LONE BANDIT WHO ROBBED BANK AND SHOT TROOPER MAY HAVE BEEN CHAPMAN

State Trooper From the
Harrisburg Barracks Is
Shot to Death As He
Overtakes Fleeing Car.

AT CAL'DNIA PARK

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 15 (INS).—Twenty-one State troopers, armed with orders to "shoot to kill," are combing the mountains of central Pennsylvania this morning for some trace of the bank robber who held up the Abbottstown bank, took $1,200 in cash, and then killed State policeman Francis L. Haley, of this place, in escaping.

Major Lynn Adams this morning said he had every reason to believe that the highwayman was Gerald Chapman, the $1,000,000 mail robber who on Sunday killed a New Britain policeman when he detected robbery.

Yesterday afternoon a masked bandit stepped into the Abbottstown bank while the cashier, Harry Stamm, was alone. Flourishing a gun he demanded that the cashier give him all of the cash in the safe. He then leaped into an automobile bearing a New York State license and fled toward Gettysburg.

Trooper Haley was assigned to man down the man and at Gratiotville, Pa., on Cal'dnia Park, when the trooper pulled his motorcycle alongside the car and ordered the bandit to surrender. He was met with a hail of bullets. He died instantly.

Troopers Land Pretty Big Rum Prize While Looking For Bandits

Gettysburg, Pa., Oct. 14.—Ferdinand Crockenberg, of Gettysburg, Pa., is languishing in the Clearfield county jail at the present time and some good citizens of Pennsylvania are mourning the loss of a consignment of 150 quarts of brandy and whiskey and Gordon gin as a result of the confiscation of the liquor by state police near this city early Sunday morning.

Crockenberg, the driver of the truck containing the liquor, which was destined for Punksutawney was unable to produce the $2,000 bail set for his release at a hearing before Judge William Bogden, and as a result he remained in the county jail where he will await a hearing at the term of court.

A hearing of the stock valued at $900 on the truck came about as a result of the efforts of troopers stationed in this city to apprehend the bandit. The county pay roll bandits, who had been traced wide to the Constabulary to be on the lookout for the bandit, and believing that the man might be heading in this direction, the two members of the force stationed in this city took up their position near Luthersburg early Sunday morning. All cars traveling along the road were stopped, and at five o'clock a truck traveling towards the west was stopped and the driver was examined. An examination of the truck was made and the cargo of wet goods were found. Crockenberg was placed under arrest and brought to this city, his hearing being held yesterday afternoon.

He was found guilty on two charges, that of violating the liquor law, and of violating section twenty of the motor law—running the truck with only one light burning.

At the hearing he stated that he was running the liquor through to Punksutawney from Pittston, and was to receive fifty dollars for his work. Although he stated it was his first trip through this section with a consignment, he was entirely familiar with the surrounding roads. He stated that the party who was shipping through the liquor had been following him in another car, efforts are being made by the troopers to apprehend him. It has been known for some time that consignments of liquor have been passing through this section, but the arrest of Sunday is the first in which the transient trade has suffered interference.

"GOVERNMENT NEVER GETS AHEAD OF THE RELIGION OF A COUNTRY", COOLIDGE DECLARES IN ADDRESS AT MONUMENT TO BISHOP ASBURY

By GEORGE E. DURNO,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Washington, Oct. 15.—"The government of a country never gets ahead of the religion of a country." With that statement as his text, President Coolidge this afternoon delivered the principal address at the dedication here of a monument to Francis Asbury, first American bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church and set forth the "necessity for reliance upon religion rather than upon law."

"Our government rests upon religion," the President declared. "It is from that source that we derive our reverence for Truth and Justice, for Equality and Liberty, and for the rights of mankind, unless the people believe in these principles they cannot believe in our government."

The President upheld "the virtue of man," as superior to the authority of law, maintaining that no way exists for the substitution of the latter for the former.

"Of course," he said "we can help to restrain the vicious and furnish a fair degree of security and protection by legislation and police control, but the real reform which society in these days is seeking will come as a result of our religious convictions, or they will not come at all."

"Peace, justice, humanity, charity—these cannot be legislated into being. They are the result of a divine grace. An act of Congress may indicate that a reform is being or has been accomplished, but it does not of itself bring about a reform."

Mr. Coolidge traced the life work of Bishop Asbury and other early circuit riders and accorded to these ministers of the Gospel the real credit for the growth of the Union of the States.

"On the foundation of a religious civilization which he (Bishop Asbury) sought to build," the President said, "our country has enjoyed greater blessings of liberty and prosperity than was ever before the lot of man. These cannot continue if we neglect the work which he did. We cannot depend upon the government to do the work of religion. We cannot escape a personal responsibility for our own conduct. We cannot regard those as wise, as safe counsellors in public affairs, who deny these principles and seek to support the theory that society can succeed when the individual fails."

Commander Chase Will Speak From KDKA This Evening At Seven o'Clock

Clearfield radio fans will be interested in knowing that J. Mitchell Chase, Esq., State Commander of the American Legion, will broadcast an address from Station KDKA at Pittsburgh this evening at 7 o'clock.

We did not learn the subject of Commander Chase's talk, but it will no doubt have to do with the affairs of the American Legion in Pennsylvania.

PENNSY-GRAMS

Philadelphia.—Supporters of the Republican ticket "All down the line" was urged by Governor Pinchot here last night in making his first political address of the campaign before the State Federation of Pennsylvania women. The governor made a vitriolic attack on the "gang" which he said had been driven from political control when he assumed office and has since failed to regain it.

Philadelphia.—Five nurses at the Nurses home of the Children's Hospital here last night rushed at a negro intruder who had awakened them and managed to hold him until just before the police arrived. Police pursued the man and captured him. He was 6 feet tall and powerfully built. He gave his name as Festus Allen, 39, when bogged.

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 15 (INS).—William Curtis, of Bradock, Pa., acting grand patriarch of the Grand Encampment, Odd Fellows, was elected to the office at the opening session of the ninety-fifth annual communication of the Grand Encampment today. Other officers elected were Grand High Priest Frank Shannon, of Pittston; Grand Senior Warden, Samuel S. Bowen of Philadelphia; Grand Scribe, Edwin L. Ritter, of Altoona; Grand Treasurer C. Heidek of Loudon of Northumberland and Grand Representative William L. Holston.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Wallace left this morning for Wilkes-Barre where Mr. Wallace will attend the Annual Convention of the Pennsylvania Automotive Association.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Browne have returned from a trip through Ohio. Burgess W. C. Russell of Gramplan was transacting official business in Clearfield today.

FIRE ON WEST 4TH AVENUE

The fire alarm was sounded about 1:40 this afternoon for a fire in District No. 32. The firemen raced to the home of Nino Tony on West Fourth avenue, where they found a small frame shed in the rear of the house blazing merrily. The blaze was promptly "dehorned" by a few bucketsful of water and the usual neighborhood quiet was quickly restored.

DEDICATION OF NEW LEGION HOME WILL BE HELD OCT. 29TH

John Shade Post of the American Legion held its first meeting in the new Legion home recently purchased from Mrs. George M. Dimling at the junction of Walnut street South Second and Leavy avenue and all present expressed themselves as being highly pleased with their new quarters.

Among the business matters disposed of at this meeting was the nomination of officers for the coming year.

It was also decided to properly dedicate the new home on Wednesday, October 29th. An elaborate program is being arranged for the dedication and more will be said about that end of it in a day or two.

Bridge Collapse At Wheeling, West Va., Hurls Worker to Death

Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 15 (INS).—At least one man was killed and it is feared the bodies of others may be found in the ruins of a section of the steel bridge over the Ohio river which collapsed here today.

Albert Coulter, of Moundsville, one of the thirty-five workmen engaged in repairing the structure, dropped 50 feet to his death when the girders gave way with a crash heard for blocks.

As a result of the accident street car traffic into the city from Ohio River points has been temporarily suspended.

YOUNG MOTHER AND BARE DROWN IN AUTO SPILL

Sistersville W. Va., Oct. 25 (INS).—Mrs. Zela Rawson, 29, and her 3 year old son were drowned today when the automobile in which they were riding went over a 50-foot embankment near here and pinned them under the machine in a creek. Jay Rawson, 30, who was driving the car, and a maid escaped unhurt.

Rawson said he was on his way to Titusville, Pa., where he is employed and the fog was so thick that he lost his way on the road. When he came to the embankment he was unable to turn his car and it plunged into the creek. He said he was unable to extricate his wife and child.

HISTORY IS MADE

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Naval air Station Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 15.—Shimmering in the sunlight, the great silver coated dirigible ZR-3, soared majestically into the Lakehurst landing field at 9:17 o'clock this morning completing her epochal 4,200 mile trip across the Atlantic from Friedrichshafen, Germany.

The big cigar shaped air liner did not land immediately but floated aloft like a lazy whale, as if taking her time for a spot to descend. Mighty cheers went up from throngs gathered at the landing field, and strung along the highways to witness the historic event.

Airplanes circled this "queen of the air," careful to keep at a distance out of respect for the highly explosive hydrogen in the ZR-3 gas bags.

It took the ZR-3 forty-two minutes to make a landing after she was sighted at 9:17. After repeatedly circling the field, she finally turned her nose south and went over a dense grove of trees to a distance of about half a mile from the field. Then she turned back and headed slowly for the center of the field, and suddenly all her huge motors ceased humming. She appeared to stand poised in the air. She slowly descended, touching the ground at exactly 9:55.

Members of the crew threw out the forward landing line which was seized by a hundred or more "gobs" in blue uniforms with white caps. They quickly made the ship fast to the ground.

Bells clanged, automobile horns honked and people cheered wildly as the flight came to an official end. The first air pilgrim to reach the ground was Commander Jacob Henry Klein, Jr., U. S. N. He leaped exultantly to the ground and shouted to newspaper men.

"Great trip!"

Then suddenly he saw his wife in the crowd and he rushed to her. Photographers crowded about to take pictures of the ship and crew who stood looking out the windows, and Captain Klein was hurriedly summoned back to his ship.

The Germans remained in their ship as the marines, hauling on ropes that had been tossed out from the ship, proceeded to "walk" the ZR-3 toward its hangar where it was to be carefully cradled.

The Americans, however, leaped out and rushed to loved ones in the crowd that was swarming excitedly back and forth on the field. As Capt. George W. Steele Jr., future commander of the ZR-3 jumped from the ZR-3 a little white haired woman ran to him. Mrs. Steele, his mother, beat Mrs. Steele, his wife, by a step into his arms. Photographers clicked their cameras madly as the officer kissed his mother and wife in turn.

Major F. M. Kennedy, only army officer on board the air monarch insisted he was the happiest of all the Americans to see his native land again.

"Why shouldn't I be the happiest man," he declared. "I've been abroad for two years. I haven't had a square meal in that time."

From the gondolas of the pudgy, fish shaped air liner, two or three of the thirty-two aboard could be seen waving greetings to the crowd below.

In their excitement, many husky "gobs" and marines, comprising the landing crew of 400 that were to "walk" the ship to her hangar forgot

75 HOURS FLYING TIME OF ZR-3

New York, Oct. 15 (INS).—The flying time of the ZR-3 from its hangar in Friedrichshafen, Germany, to the coast of North America, was approximately 75 hours.

The dirigible hopped off at 6:36 at Friedrichshafen, which would be 12:36 Eastern Standard time in the United States. It was 3:50 a. m. today when she soared over North Turo, a little town tucked away on Cape Cod.

to stand at attention and gave forth a lusty cheer.

Meanwhile the history making ZR-3, with its complement of 32 men, American Army and navy officers and twenty-eight German officers and crew, continued to proudly circle the field, noting the landing signals displayed in giant letters on the ground below.

The ZR-3 had made the long non-

WYOMING HOPES TO BEAT TEXAS HAVING WOMAN GOVERNOR

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 15 (INS).—"Beat Texas to it" was the slogan of Wyoming Democrats today following the nomination late yesterday of Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, widow of the late Governor W. B. Ross, as the party's gubernatorial candidate.

Wyoming, pioneer woman's suffrage state, would also be the first to inaugurate a woman as governor, the delegates declared.

Mrs. Ross, a refined, capable woman, was prepared to "carry on" the duties of her husband, provided, she said, the people of Wyoming expressed that desire by their votes on November 4.

"While I believe as a general proposition that most public offices can be filled by women quite as satisfactorily as men," the widow told International News Service at the executive mansion here, "a public career for myself never previously had any appeal."

"I appreciate far beyond my ability to express, the honor conferred upon me by unanimous vote of the delegates," she continued. "But I regard it as a tribute to my departed husband, giving further substantial evidence of the high esteem in which he was held by the people of this state."

The Republican state convention yesterday nominated E. J. Sullivan of Basin as candidate for Governor. Both state conventions were called as the result of Governor Ross' death last month.

CREW OF ZR-3 SEND GREETINGS TO CITY OF NEW YORK AND AMERICA BY DROPPING NOTE THROUGH THE AIR

New York, Oct. 15 (INS).—Greetings from the German builders of the ZR-3 to the future owners of the big dirigible were transmitted to America via International News Service from Dr. Hugo Eckener, her commander, as the silvery air cruiser thrust its huge bulk through the air lanes above New York today.

A tiny parachute wafted down from the air liner. Attached to the parachute was a bundle of letters addressed to International News Service, and this signed greetings from Dr. Eckener:

"New York, we salute you!
"In sight of the skyline of this wonderful metropolis the ZR-3 dips its bow and sends sincere

ONE BIG SPEECH IS ALL MR. COOLIDGE WILL HAVE TO MAKE

By GEORGE E. DURNO,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Washington, Oct. 14.—One major speech and a series of short, impromptu addresses will complete President Coolidge's personal participation in his campaign for continuance in the White House, it was learned definitely today. The President will not, however, leave Washington, depending upon the press and the radio to get his views before the public.

The big concluding speech of his campaign will be delivered here before eastern members of the United States Chamber of Commerce on Oct. 21. Taxation, tariff, immigration and governmental economy will be discussed at that time.

With this one exception, however, the President will pursue diligently his "back porch" campaign wherein he meets, and delivers brief addresses to comparatively small delegations from the South Portico of the White House, or attends strictly local celebrations.

Tentative arrangements have been made for the President to speak over the radio on October 26 to a New York banquet of the Federated Jewish Charities. Other invitations are pouring in daily from which the executive may select the remainder of his engagements.

The President will leave Washington on the night of November 3 for Northampton, Mass., where he and Mrs. Coolidge will cast their votes on election day.

Fatal Automobile-Rail Collision At Titusville; Two Are In Hospital

Oil City, Pa., Oct. 15 (INS).—Morris Shambaugh, of Titusville, is dead, and William and John Beck, of the same city, are in the Oil City hospital suffering from injuries received when the automobile in which they were riding was demolished by the Titusville accommodation train on the Pennsylvania railroad.

The accident occurred on a crossing above Petroleum Center this morning. A dense fog prevented the men from seeing the approaching train. The train stopped and brought the men to this city Shambaugh dying a few minutes after arriving here. John Beck is a well known baseball player in this region.

NEW VERSION OF "BUSINESS IS BUSINESS" IS GIVEN BY EDITOR MERRILL THORPE

The Phillipsburg Rotary Club was the host last evening to the members of the Huntingdon and Clearfield Rotary Clubs at dinner at the Hotel Phillips, and at the same time offered their guests opportunity to hear Merrill Thorpe, editor of "The Nation's Business," of Washington, D. C., in his now internationally famous talk on "Business Is Business."

The distinguished editor, than whom there is none other in these United States better qualified to talk on the subject, gave one of the most entertaining and instructive talks on this all-important subject we have ever listened to.

Mr. Thorpe, refraining from the use of trills and fraspery of the orator, simply talks to his audience in a common sense conversational tone by which he is able to put his thoughts across with startling directness and in a manner which leaves no doubt of the sincerity of the speaker and demonstrates the fact that here is one speaker who knows exactly what he Middleburg, Pa., Oct. 15 (INS).—Taking the stand in her own defense Mrs. Annie Willow today told graphic story of abuse and brutality of Harvey Willow, her husband, for whose murder she is indicted.

Under questioning of her counsel, she told all the details of her early life, her courtship by Willow and their married life.

"He was cruel to me. He beat me, kicked me, choked me and then threw me down the steps," she testified.

This occurred five years after their marriage. Putting the woman on the stand was the first move of the defense and came as a complete surprise to the prosecution. The crowded courtroom was tense as the woman took the stand.

"For three years after our marriage," she testified, "we lived apart; he worked at Northumberland and I stayed at home. Then we went to housekeeping."

"His abuse began two years after our marriage and continued through our married life at various intervals until late last year."

Prosecution moved with speed in closing their case. Ralph Shadel, 18, who committed the murder, was again called to the stand. He testified to having shot and killed Harvey Willow. His testimony was introduced to establish the fact that Willow had been murdered. He was not cross examined.

In his opening address to the jury attorney B. E. Pawling, defense counsel outlined the plans in asking acquittal of the woman.

Middleburg, Pa., Oct. 15 (INS).—Evidence of a sensational nature purported to show Mrs. Annie Willow as the victim of a cruel husband and a "lying lover," was promised today by defense counsel, who will ask acquittal of the woman in this strange farmland murder.

The woman is fighting death in the electric chair for her part in the alleged "partner slaying" of her husband by 18-year-old Ralph Shadel. He has been convicted of killing Harvey Willow and now awaits the beginning of his 10 to 20-year sentence in the Eastern penitentiary.

The alleged cruelty of Harvey Willow will be brought out in testimony by a dozen witnesses, chief of defense counsel A. W. Johnson said, and evidence of his wicked temper will be illustrated by incidents during his life. Dr. E. R. Decker, the Willow family's physician, will be called again to testify of treating the badly beaten woman on several occasions. He testified for the state yesterday.

By roughly scrawled notes from Shadel to Mrs. Willow shortly after their arrest, defense counsel said they hoped to show that the woman was not the malign influence over the youth that she was pictured. Several of them read:

"I have to save myself."

ZR-3 LANDED AT LAKEHURST

Flight in the phenomenal time of about 80 hours averaging close to a mile a minute. This exceeds as a commercial feat, anything on record, overshadowing the achievement of the liner Leviathan in spanning the Atlantic in four and one-half days.

As the ZR-3 soared above in the air, her silvery sides glistening and her powerful motors thrumming to and fro, that gradually sounded like a rumble, the people scurried after her, following her from one end of the field to the other.

Little knots of people stood on the grass and waved back to the men in the gondolas high in the air.

The ZR-3 came into Lakehurst at a height of about 2,000 feet, dipped her snub nose downward and steadily came closer to the ground. All the while, however, continuing to slowly circle the field. There was a terrific din of auto horns as the big liner seemed to hover perfectly still in mid-air, in the center of the field. The roar of motors by this time, had become deafening. The very buildings seemed to vibrate.

Though momentarily indicating that she was about to descend, Commander Dr. Hugo Eckener, apparently changed his mind, and the ZR-3 turned its nose about and swung in the air. At 9:25, eight minutes after she was sighted, she fell in the air, hardly higher than the first class office building sky-line.

ZR-3 landed at 9:55 a. m., and the crowd that rushed to the landing field to where the ship came to rest.

By LARRY SMITH
I. N. S. Correspondent
York, Oct. 15.—Safe over her homeland after a record voyage across the Atlantic and a struggle against adverse winds which buffeted her northward, the big dirigible cruised over New York early while the city rubbed the sleep from its eyes and joined in a cheer that must have carried up to the gondolas of the huge air voyager.

Passing Boston at 4:18 a. m. the dirigible headed south along the coast, left Newport R. I. behind at dawn and thence along the shore of Long Island, across the lower harbor and thence up the Hudson River, while the city shrieked its greeting.

The dirigible passed the ferry-house at St. George, Staten Island at 7:45 a. m., headed toward the statue of Liberty. She was flying low through a heavy haze. In the haze, thickened early morning light, she gleamed dully as she slid through the fog up the Hudson river.

As the big silver ship reached the end of Manhattan Island over the Hudson, she swung gracefully and pointed her nose down toward the battery again, following Broadway as she bisected the cheering city in her course.

Shouldering her way through the morning mists at a brisk speed, the last Zeppelin which Germany can make under the terms of the Versailles treaty moved over a cheering city in a swing of triumph before heading toward Lakehurst, N. J. There the German experts, who built her and brought her safely over miles of ocean will turn her over to the United States Navy.

Wave after wave of welcoming sound rose in a crescendo of enthusiasm as the dirigible robbed her silver sheen by the low hanging haze, sped the length of the city toward the canyons of Wall Street. At the Battery she again turned west, swung in a great circle around Lower New York and again west, toward Lakehurst.

The landing at Lakehurst, first expected at 8 a. m. was postponed until between 9 and 10, according to a message from Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the ZR-3 to naval communications at Washington, picked up by local radio stations.

New York was abed, or just getting up when the dirigible was first sighted, but news of her arrival and the paean of greeting that rose in a Titan chorus from many whistles, brought late risers to the streets, which quickly were filled to rush hour proportions.

Windows of lofty office buildings, ordinarily not filled until their workaday inhabitants arrived two hours later, were sought as vantage points from which the canyons of the city could not shut off a view of the air traveler.

North Turo, Mass., a little town on Cape Cod near the North Highland light had the honor of being the first place on American soil to hail the big bird of passage.

(Driving down the coast toward Boston and New York at a clip of better than fifty knots an hour from the northward position to which adverse winds had driven her late yesterday and last night, the ZR-3 passed over North Turo at 3:15 a. m. today.

Boston was next in the line of flight and as the lights of the city cruiser showed at 4:18 a. m. a city yet in darkness joined the whistles at the Boston Navy yard and from coastwise shipping in a greeting to her. A light at her prow and a light astern showed as the dirigible slid far above the city.

Dawn was breaking clear and mild as she passed New Port R. I. one hundred miles from New York at 5:30 o'clock. She was holding to a good speed around sixty miles an hour.

As the dirigible neared New York in the broadening light, four army airplanes swooped up from Mitchell Field, L. I. as an escort to the big ship. Dwarfed by the ponderous proportions of the ZR-3, they were but gnats humming around a Leviathan of the sky.

As American soil slipped under her keel with the success of the trans-Atlantic dirigible voyage assured messages of greetings buzzed from the ZR-3 to stations on the ground. They came from the American naval officers to their families and intimates and from the German commander and crew to anxious wives and children waiting in Germany.

Grouping Of Railroads Was Discussed By "Big Four" Last Saturday

Washington, Oct. 12.—A completely revised plan of consolidating the great trunk line railroads of the East into four systems instead of the nine tentatively proposed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, is understood to have been placed before the commission as an outgrowth of Saturday's conference here with President Patrick Crotty of the New York Central Lines, Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio and Samuel Rea of the Pennsylvania Lines, and O. V. and M. J. Van Sweringen of the Nickel Plate System, whose proposed Nickel Plate merger would upset the commission's tentative plans.

The substitute plan, it is understood, contemplates four great Eastern systems built about the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and Nickel Plate Systems.

According to information in well informed railroad circles, such a plan would assign the Reading Company and the Central of New Jersey to the Baltimore and Ohio system, which owns the controlling interest in them.

The Norfolk and Western, given a system of its own in the commission's tentative plan, would be assigned to the Pennsylvania Lines, and the Lackawanna and the Virginian railroads, grouped by the commission in the New England-Great Lakes and the Chesapeake and Ohio systems respectively, would be assigned to the Nickel Plate.

The New York Central would be given trackage rights over the Central of New Jersey Railroad and the Philadelphia and Reading into Northern New Jersey and Northeastern Pennsylvania.

SORT OF DOUBT THE STORY

Editor Progress: We noticed in the Progress of October 13th a front page article concerning the doings of W. Banks Holmes while at Erie attending the fireman's convention. This article states Mr. Holmes was stopping with and entertained by an old friend, a minister. Now that sounds very well but perhaps that is laying it on in chunks too large. Who ever heard of a fireman while attending a state convention wearing spectacles and searching for a sky pilot? He would have to be well loaded and recovering with a severe headache if acting in that strange manner.

We are a little soft and quite green but that is pretty raw stuff on which to feed us. Can swallow the balance of the article without a single gulp, but choke on the minister section. Banks give us something more easily digested. You are now trying to pull one over. We believe almost any statement you may make, but that minister dope is too strong for our stomach. We draw a broad line right there and renig. We won't stand for fairy tales or impossibilities. May at times look like a good one still in the picture and can't stand that minister medicine.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

John Shade Post of the American Legion in carrying out the aims and objects of that organization has decided to give Clearfield an effective employment bureau which will endeavor to get the unemployed of the community, from time to time, acquainted with the employers of labor in the region and thus get man and job together.

The employers of labor in this community are in receipt of a communication of recent date in which the objects of the Legion's Employment Bureau is set forth as follows. It being the object of the bureau to—

"First: To secure employment for as many unemployed as possible. This does not apply only to Legion and ex-service men but to any man who can efficiently discharge his duty to the satisfaction of the employer."

"Second: To offer to our support Clearfield and the districts immediately surrounding, an Employment Bureau, free of any financial obligations."

The following explanation of the new departure is then given:

"Unless we are thoroughly acquainted with the ability of an applicant, we will not recommend him to any company applying to this Bureau for men. We will, however, send him to the office of the possible employer for an interview and the employer can form his own idea as to the man's ability."

"Legion men are not to receive preference. In securing help for the various plants we will consider the work to be done first, then the man. We are of course anxious to place men of our own organization, but not unless the applicant can measure up to the job."

W. E. Fluck is chairman of the bureau and its services are available free of charge at any time and employers will do well to keep in touch with the organization.

In his talk on "Business Is Business," before the Philipsburg Rotary Club and its guests from Huntingdon and Clearfield last evening the brilliant and brainy Merrill Thorpe, editor of "The Nation's Business," stressed the fact that the nation's business is today suffering from the effects of the destructive criticism of the demagogue who seeks to array the class against class for political effect and personal advantage. Legitimate business, both big and little, is mind-ing its own business and all the world would be much better off if we all were engaged in the same line of endeavor. We are suffering from the distinguished editor says, by entirely too much "viewing with alarm" and "entirely too much legislative regulation," with which statement ninety-nine Americans out of each hundred will agree.

RELIC DAY FOR D. A. R.

Relic Day observed on Tuesday by the D. A. R. turned out to be the most interesting and instructive meeting of the year. Each member was asked to bring a relic to the meeting and to give its history. A fine collection of interesting exhibits was the result. The meeting was held at Mrs. F. B. Reed's home.

"C" MEN TO THE FRONT

All "C" men of Clearfield High are requested to be present at the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 7:30.

Up to this time the "C" Club has been under temporary heads, but this evening officers will be selected to lead the club on a regular cruise. Cards have been sent to all "C" owners but if you have been missed be at the Y tonight and get the dope straight.

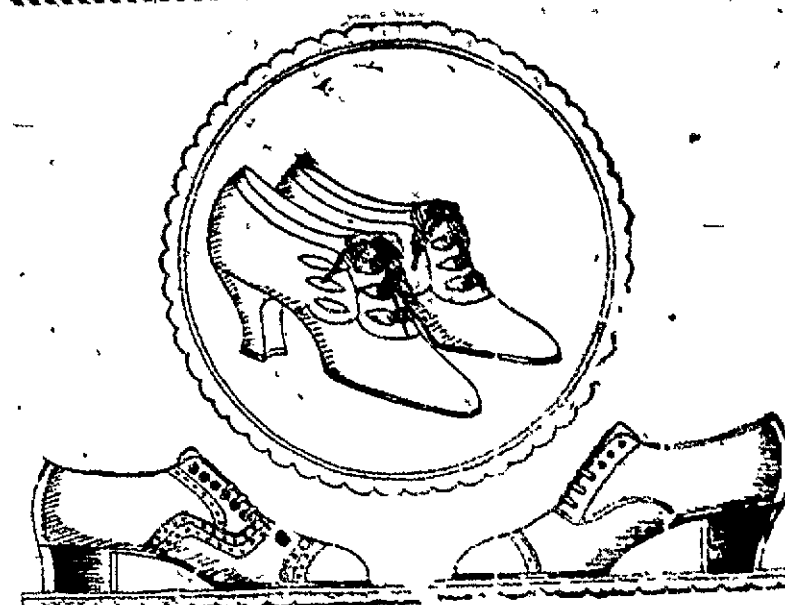

A staunch friend of St. John's Lutheran church is expected at the Quiet Hour service this evening.

Earl Ruffner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruffner of Clearfield street, who was operated upon for appendicitis at the Rowles Hospital yesterday, is improving nicely.

Economy in the Long Run

Any housewife ought to consider well the cooking and wearing qualities, the fuel economy and the appearance of the range she buys. Remember that it is a lasting purchase—you are buying for a long time. No purchase for the home is more important than the kitchen range. You cook on it three times a day, every day in the year. Your peace of mind and the health, energy and contentment of your whole household depend on the better cooking that a New Majestic Range will enable you to do every meal.

It is false economy to buy a cheap kitchen range that wears out quickly and often makes the best cooks fail. The only true economy is economy in the long run. Therein lies the economy of the Majestic. It cuts down fuel and repair bills and its long life of never-failing efficiency makes it cost less per year than any other range in the world.

TEACHERS IN CIVIC AFFAIRS

The time seems almost ripe for abandoning the ancient jokes about the impracticality of the academic mind. College presidents and professors are mixing in rather lively fashion in practical affairs of all sorts. Politics, particularly, appears to have made room for them. They are plucked from the halls of learning to sit in cabinets; they help write municipal charters; they frequently run for high offices and sometimes they are elected; they serve in diplomatic capacities; they are sent abroad on special commissions.

On the whole, too, they make good in all these tasks just as they made good in their professorial capacity before they received public recognition of their ability.

This looks as though a different attitude toward the teaching profession were gaining strength. It has often been said in the past that the teacher's service to the community was not sufficiently appreciated, that practical persons in business or political or other groups rather looked down upon the school teacher as being visionary and unable to cope with the facts of business or political life.

Whether this marks a change solely in the public mind, or whether it indicates a genuine change in the professorial mind, it is difficult to say. In either case, it seems to indicate a wholesome development, so long as it does not go too far in depriving young learners of their best teachers.

THE DOUBTFUL ZEPPELIN

The ZR-3, the government's latest acquisition in dirigible warships, is described by her German builders as the "noblest of all Zeppelins." She probably deserves that title. Her performance in crossing the Atlantic speaks for itself. And yet—there is always a reservation where dirigibles are concerned.

Granting that she is the best of her type, the intelligent follower of aviation history, in the case of any undertaking on the part of such a craft, hopes for the best rather than counts on assured performance.

All flying, as yet, is a gamble. But the dirigible, or lighter-than-air craft, seems more of a gamble than the non-buoyant airplane. Perhaps it should be the other way, but records show that it is not. The very buoyancy of the dirigible balloon, which sustains her when the engines stop, is a bad handicap in a hurricane. The wind may blow her out of her course, because she lacks speed enough to buck it. A gale may carry her away when she is tailed off from a mooring mast, so immense hangars must be provided for her shelter. If filled with hydrogen gas, as the ZR-3 has been so far, she is always in peril of explosion from a chance spark from a wire, flame from the engine or a stroke of lightning. Though strong, the framework of such craft has been known to buckle.

Such considerations weigh heavily against the two big advantages of the Zeppelin type, which are that it can carry a heavy load and has a greater cruising range than any existing airplane. In the stern test of war, the Zeppelins were discarded by Germany in favor of planes. It is still to be proved whether for either war or peace the improved Zeppelin is worth perpetuating as a practical aircraft. There is great value, however, in the government's experiments along this line, no matter which way they result.

TRANSFER, PLEASE

By FLORENCE DAVIES

"If you're on the gloomy line, get a transfer," sings a cheer-up writer. "Get off the track of doubt and gloom, get on the sunshine track, there's room."

"Sunshine and blue sky, autumn's mellowest air at last, and yet some folks think they have more troubles than anybody else!"

The stay-at-home woman who spends most of her time brooding over her own real or fancied misfortunes needs to get out into the fresh air among other folks and find just where the "sunshine track" is running.

One of the gloomy line passengers was given her transfer in an unusual way the other day. She had passed through the market and down the street with no eye for the beauty of autumn's stores—the ruddy and purpling and pale green grapes, red checked apples and peaches, golden oranges and bananas; the heaped-up vegetables, from feathery-topped celery to cabbages and sweet potatoes. In fact, she was as tired of ordering meals as she had been in earlier days of preparing them.

What was the use, anyway? Eating to live seemed as bad as living to eat, when each day seemed merely a monotonous round from dull duty to meaningless search for a new time killer, and so on till the gloomy-go-round circle was complete?

And then, passing the entrance of a shabby court near the very heart of the shopping center, the answer came. It came in the form of a sudden transfer, in which a young woman in the garb of a visiting nurse, and a small girl in faded gingham were participants, the child having rushed to clasp her friend about the waist, with all the strength of her little pipestem arms.

"O Miss Marian," cried the eager little voice, "What do you think? Dad's leg is all better and he's got a job, and we're going to eat regular again!"

There were still homes, then, even in her own rich city, where the dishes stayed in the cupboard because there was nothing to put on them. Where even a 'piece' in hand came at sadly uncertain intervals. Where all the heaped-up stuff in the markets was only a bitter reminder of the empty cupboard at home.

Then and there our gloomy-line passenger presented her transfer to the sunshine track conductor.

LESSON NO. 4

LIGHTING THE LAUNDRY

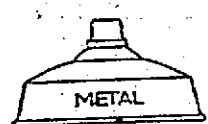

Neither washing clothes nor ironing them is the easiest kind of work. Even when an electric washing machine and an electric ironing machine are used, the weekly wash day is a busy one.

There are little spots of dirt to be washed away—sometimes, we have to look twice to be sure that the clothes are quite clean; there are wrinkles and plaits to be ironed carefully. So we need light that will make it easier for us to see what we are doing; lighting that will let us see at a glance whether the clothes are clean and whether the iron has smoothed out all of the wrinkles.

Many homes have a separate room, sometimes in one corner of the basement, where the washing and ironing are done. In such homes the laundry tubs are found in the kitchen and the same room is used both for cooking and for laundry work.

Where the laundry tubs are put in the kitchen, the lighting equipment in Lesson No. 8 will be satisfactory, unless the room is a large one. In this case it may be necessary to add a bracket fixture on the wall behind the tubs, with a 50-watt white bulb or a 75-watt daylight or blue bulb. This bulb should be covered with a deep, open bottom, milk-white glass shade. The daylight or blue glass bulb will make it easier to see scorchers.

When the laundry tubs are in a separate room, we need a light close up at the ceiling and over the tubs. It should have a 150-watt daylight or blue bulb or a 100-watt clear bulb with a metal reflector like this:

or a dense, milk-white glass shade which is open at the bottom and deep enough to completely cover the bulb, like this:

If the room is a large one, we may need two or three of these lights at the ceiling. In most laundry rooms, one over the tubs will give good lighting. When others are used, put them over the ironing board and over the space that is used for hanging the clothes up to dry indoors.

The convenience of the electric appliances should be in the wall, not less than 36 inches above the floor, so that the cord with which we connect them will not be on the floor and get wet.

LIGHTING THE BASEMENT

The basement of our homes usually contains the heating equipment and storage space. At least one light is needed in front of the furnace or heater. It should have a 60-watt bulb and a metal or glass shade of this shape, long enough to cover the bulb.

A similar light is needed for the fruit closet, and perhaps for the coal bin.

The stairway to the basement must be lighted by a separate light, unless one of the other lights is very close to it. The light that is used for this purpose should be installed so that it may be turned on and off from the top of the stairs in order that we may see our way down at night.

LIGHTING THE WORKBENCH

Perhaps father or brother has a workbench in the basement where he builds radio sets, or takes the smaller parts of the auto to put them in good condition.

This workbench needs two lights over it, one at each end. If only one light is used, the shadows that it will make are very annoying. If two lights are used, each one lights up the shadows made by the other one.

You know when you have a table lamp with only one bulb in it lighted, and all of the other lights in the room are turned out, that if you start to make lines with a ruler, the ruler sometimes makes a shadow just where you are trying to put the line. But if you turn on the other lights in the room, this shadow fades out and you can see nicely.

That is why we need two lights at the ceiling over a workbench, and why one of them should be over the center of one end of the bench and one over the other end of the bench and about six inches in front of it.

In the Courts

Henry Spesock, a crippled child, whose predicament came to the attention of the authorities during the DuBois Rotary Club's recent "crippled children's" survey, was directed to be taken to the orthopedic department of St. Francis hospital in Pittsburgh for treatment, by an order made by Judge Chase in Juvenile Court yesterday. The order calls for the expenditure of $250 from the County Treasury. R. G. Howard, of DuBois, was delegated to take the boy to the hospital.

An order was made in the case of Thomas and Benjamin Croggs directing that $24 per month be paid for the support of their aged mother. Some of the other children in the family having refused to contribute to the support of their mother this court action was instituted to compel them to bear their share of such expense.

Another flock of bootleggers were sent down to visit with Warden Billy McClure at the jail for periods ranging from 10 days to 4 months at a brief session of sentence court yesterday morning, each defendant having entered a plea of guilty to a charge of violating the liquor law.

Roz Alexander, of Madera, was fined $100 and costs for illegal possession.

John Lachovich, of the Houtzdale country, who made and sold moonshine, was given a fine of $500 and the costs and four months in jail.

Andy Kopchick, of Decatur township, another vendor got $400 fine and the costs and 4 months.

Mike Polock, from the same section, who made a little but left no evidence of sale, was given $200 fine and costs and 10 days in jail.

George Kephart, of Decatur township, was given $100 fine and costs and 4 months. His father, William Kephart, had a nolle proes entered against him following the son's plea of guilty.

John Coleman, of near Osceola, got a fine of $300 and costs and 4 months in jail, for his bootlegging operations.

Albert Zins, of Houtzdale, was stalked for $100 and costs with a 10 day stay in jail for manufacturing and possessing.

John Neiders, who deserted his four children ranging in age from 3 1/2 to 15 years was before Judge Chase yesterday and got an order to pay $30 per month for the support of the children. He was also directed to pay $15 additional per month to Probation Officer Carl Anderson until he had reimbursed Clearfield county for the $110 spent by the county in caring for the children.

Theodore Gilks was fined $1.00 and costs on a desertion and non-support charge with the further direction to contribute $25 per month toward the support of his wife and family.

Guy Baird also in court on a desertion and non-support charge, was allowed to go on payment of the costs.

WILL WORK OUT SATISFACTORILY

For the past ten days New York Central officials have been making a test of a new haulage arrangement on the Pennsylvania Division between Avis and Cherrytree. Under the new plan local railroad men or some of them at least, feared they would be forced to remove from Clearfield and locate in either of the two places first mentioned.

The new arrangement caused quite a change or shakedown locally and resulted in very slack work for the local crews. Alarmed at the possibility of such conditions continuing the railroad men made known their fears and the matter was taken up with Division Supt. Howard Scott by the Commercial club. The reply of Supt. Scott which stated the fears of the men were groundless in this instance, was printed recently in this paper.

A committee of the employees of the N. Y. C. visited Supt. Scott yesterday and were personally assured by that official that while some new arrangement was in contemplation regarding the operation of trains between Avis and Cherrytree there would be no change in the status or residence of their employees although it may be necessary for the crews to change at the Clearfield Junction, as was previously the case, instead of in the Clearfield yards, as has been done for some time past.

GRAIN OPENINGS

Chicago, Oct. 15 (INS)—Grains opened generally lower, except for oats today.

Wheat started 1/2 to 3/4 lower with scattered selling on disappointing cables. Buying by houses with eastern and foreign connections was apparent soon after the start, however, and prices firmed up.

Corn started 1/2 to 3/4 lower largely as a result of local selling. Some buying developed on the break.

Oats started 1/4 to 3/8 cents higher with buying by commission houses and offerings limited.

Provisions started steady to a shade higher with trade light.

Not All "Fine" Arts

There are many arts, not among those we conventionally call "fine," which seem to me fundamental to living.—Havelock Ellis.

Juicy Fruits Valuable

Juicy fruits are the best and most wholesome of the raw foods, and while they provide little in the way of starch, fat or protein, so large is their content of organic mineral salts that we may now justly call them nature's perfect sugar-coated pills.

Clearfield-Philipsburg

He's A Good Judge

The average Clearfield boy is frank—brutally frank. He'll tell you in a minute when anything suits his taste or the opposite. And he makes his likes and dislikes known in no uncertain terms.

If boys—good hustling, romping, foot-balling boys—tell you Mothers that the butter you serve is "the cat's eyebrows", don't worry. It's just his way of telling you that you have struck the butter he likes.

Clearfield Butter

Made from pure, rich and fully "ripened" cream Clearfield Butter is making a hit with the real test court in this city—BOYVILLE. It's the kind that brings a "Mom, let's have another slice" from that ten or twelve-year-old of yours. And it's as building a thing as he could eat, rich in all the necessary food elements required to build his body and mind.

You can get Clearfield Butter from most of the grocers and we'd rather you'd ask them for it.

TRINITY CHURCH ITEMS

Last Sunday, Bible School maintained its record of advance over the 1923 figures of attendance and offering. Strangers and new members were reported. Every department worked in a fine spirit. The School heard with great interest the representatives of the Near East, Mrs. Charles W. Gannaway and her adopted daughter, Zadi, which means "daughter of freedom." They spoke in the morning worship period.

Strangers enjoyed with the regular worshippers the excellent music by the chorus in the morning and evening. Special selections were sung by Mrs. Gallaher, Miss Phillips and a male quartette. The morning text, Psalm 69:9, "Thine zeal of thine haters hath eaten me up" was related to the task of evangelization of the world, interpreted in World Service, and in revival objective crowned by conversions. This was most vigorously discussed.

At night the great passage in Revelation 19:10, "And he hath on his vesture and on his thigh a name written, KING OF KING and LORD OF LORDS," presented the Kingship of Jesus, treated from predictions, Christ's teachings, the judicial and moral right issuing from his death and an unselfish ministry. The sermon closed with questions: What kind of King will elicit your devotion? Certain types were offered in the career of Herod the Great, Henry VIII, and Louis XIV. Why not Christ your King? If so, then change your life. Pring yourself under His sway.

A full line of specials started with last Sunday. Last night the Queen Esther Circle met. Wednesday afternoon Home Missionary Society program will be in charge of Mrs. Jacob's group. Mid-week congregational meeting, devotional study "Ephesus," followed by an adjourned meeting of the Official Board. Very important.

Next Sunday morning Dr. Charles V. Iglehart will preach and at 2:30 deliver a special address at the Methodist Mass Meeting. The Trinity World Service Council has invited pastors and laymembers of the Methodist churches in Clearfield county and Philipsburg, accessible to the County Seat. Dr. Iglehart is a noted leader in the Orient. He understands world conditions and problems. The arrangement made by Trinity thru Dr. Morris E. Swartz, in bringing on to this Community such distinguished Churchmen every fall has been greatly appreciated by the Methodists of this entire section of the State. The Church people of every persuasion will be welcome.

Beginning with Sunday evening, November 2, Dr. D. N. Miller, of Harrisburg, will assist the pastor in special meetings. Mrs. Miller will be a male quartette. The morning text, Psalm 69:9, "Thine zeal of thine haters hath eaten me up" was related to the task of evangelization of the world, interpreted in World Service, and in revival objective crowned by conversions. This was most vigorously discussed.

ANOTHER HOME REFLOORED WITH CROMAR

The Beauty of CROMAR Floors is more than surface deep

The beautiful grain and color of oak, subdued in its natural state, is brought to the surface and revealed only after passing through many finishing operations.

Have you ever witnessed the installation of an ordinary hardwood floor? Perhaps you have been inconvenienced by the scraping, sanding, filling, varnishing, waxing and polishing—a series of labors extending over days and days and days. The CROMAR method is different from this. CROMAR Oak Flooring comes to your home completely finished like fine furniture, ready to use the minute it is laid. Patented machines perform the several operations more thoroughly, more uniformly and at less cost.

Editor Thorpe, who is also business manager of his publication which does a business of one million and a quarter dollars annually, is well qualified to talk on business by reason of his business qualities alone, but added to that is the knowledge gained by years of experience with the detailed information regarding about all the big business undertakings of the past decade. He said the destructive criticism and mouthings of the political demagogue added to the multitude of legislative remedies, which aggravated but didn't cure, spread upon the statute books of state and nation, was responsible for a very great deal of the unrest and dissatisfaction throughout the land, and said all that business needed was to be let alone to mind its own business.

To illustrate this crying need the speaker mentioned the railroads, the operation of which is hedged about by 42 federal regulating agencies and 48 state laws.

The assembled Rotarians were simply "carried away" by Mr. Thorpe's talk and accorded him a ringing vote of thanks at its conclusion.

Why it Will Pay You to Trade in Clearfield, Pa.

BENJAMIN S. TONEY
Trading as TONEY BROS.

The illustration shows our present home at 307 Third Street, but this is entirely inadequate for the needs of our business. A large crew has been put to work on the construction of a steel and concrete building on Bigler Avenue, opposite the Pennsy freight station. This building is being built under the most improved ideas for the fruit and produce business. A heating room for the purpose of ripening properly tropical fruits and a cold storage room for the proper keeping of such fruits and produce as require such handling, will be among the new features of our plant.

The building will be seventy-six feet by thirty-five feet and will be the last word in a building to house a business of this kind.

Until recently the business has been conducted under the name of Toney & Sandy, but since the retirement of Mr. Sandy a short time ago, Benjamin Toney conducted and will continue to conduct the business in such a manner as to warrant the patronage of every merchant in this entire section.

A CITY OF UP-TO-DATE STORES WHERE YOU GET THE MOST FOR YOUR MONEY!

The Progressive Business Firms whose ads. appear on this page have combined in presenting a series of articles designed to show the most skeptical of persons that it is to their best advantage at all times to Trade in Clearfield. All of the firms here represented have your interests at heart as well as their own and we sincerely hope these articles may be the means of a better understanding between the merchants and the public.

WATCH REPAIRING DONE AS YOU'D LIKE TO HAVE IT

WHY IT WILL PAY YOU TO TRADE IN CLEARFIELD

The local merchant is responsible for anything he sells.

The purchaser may examine any article

for sale in a Clearfield store and buy only that which is satisfactory. It will be delivered without any delay. If there is any imperfection

it will be remedied

quickly and to your satisfaction. And when it comes to

prices you will always get full value

for every dollar you spend with Clearfield merchants because they are here to stay and they must

patronage. All the merchant asks is a modest profit which he is entitled to for his investment, his labor and his ability to save us time, trouble and money.

So let's decide

now for all time to go into these Clearfield stores oftener.

Let's meet each other and let the actual goods themselves

supplant the prettily

known value of the mail order house.

We thank you.

FOOTBALL FANS ARE CLOSELY WATCHING SATURDAY RESULTS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. S. Sports Editor

New York, Oct. 14.—Sectional, inter-sectional and possibly national ranking may be determined by the outcome of Saturday's football games comprising in toto the most impressive list ever compiled for an October week-end. Even at that immature date, it is altogether possible that the day will uncover a team that is destined to go on to national recognition as the championship outfit of 1924.

Illinois and Michigan are potential candidates for that high honor. They will meet in the big number of the western conference schedule on Saturday, and barring a tie, will decide middle western supremacy for the moment. This game outranks in consequence even the Army-Notre Dame affair at the Polo Grounds, fairly brilliant as it does with inter-sectional significance.

Unlike the Army and Notre Dame, which conduct an annual series to the Army's annual regret, Michigan and Illinois haven't met in some years. Both laid just claim to the conference title in 1923, however, and Saturday's game was arranged with the idea of deciding something. It will.

Other meetings of consequence in the west call for Wisconsin to play Minnesota; Nebraska to take on Colorado and Southern California to face the Oregon Aggies in a coast conference game. All are of almost national import.

But they are no more so than the Dartmouth-Yale game at New Haven for the Princeton-Navy meeting at Princeton. Usually, there are eight days in the week every time two such meetings occur at one and the same time. Dartmouth is on its way back after several misfit seasons and thinks it has a possible champion. Yale was the joint leader of the east last year and many thought it had the best team in the country. As a study in concentrated class, this game will do until a better one turns up.

Neither Princeton nor the Navy has early season strength this year but big timers will be big timers, even when they use small time stuff. Harvard and Holy Cross, Cornell and Rutgers, Syracuse and Boston College, and Washington and Jefferson and Carnegie Tech, also will furnish the big moments in the east. In the west, barring games already mentioned, it will be Chicago and Indiana and Stanford and Oregon.

The south must look to Tulane and Vanderbilt and Penn State and Georgia Tech for its leaders. A defeat for any of the teams mentioned while not necessarily conclusive, would have a definite effect upon its status. The same applies to the games involving Alabama and Tennessee and Kentucky and Washington and Lee.

WHY DON'T YOU HOWL

For the second time straight the C. H. S. grid teams played without signs of encouragement from the students in the form of cheering in group. The entire season thus far cheering has been minus and before some one has to tell them straight about time the students tumble to it.

It's no secret that support wins many close games but something seems to make it look as though the local students don't want to support a winner. They are not slow to hammer them when they lose but when they win it's just, well, its good.

Just as a comparison, New Castle High's were one thousand strong at Harrisburg last Saturday and Harrisburg is a considerable distance from New Castle, and do you suppose they just glimmed the game in silence, or did the New Castle team have the support of a real strong, longed gang of rooters. Well, anyhow, Clearfield High students ought to think it over, because they have a good team to support, if they care to do their part.

WEEK-END BIBLE CONFERENCE

A week-end Bible conference will be held at the Baptist Church beginning Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock and continuing until Sunday evening. Rev. E. H. Bancroft, of the Practical Bible Training School, of Birmingham, N. Y., will be in charge. Sessions will be held Friday and Saturday evenings at 7:30 o'clock and on Sunday at 11, 3 and 7:30 o'clock. These services will be well worth while to Bible students and all are urged to attend.

Second Stringers Look Like A "Million"; Hand Defeat To Philipsburg

You have to hand it to Asst. Coach Hugo Steele for the winning by the Red and Black second team of Monday's game. Philipsburg was "stealed" and dropped the decision by a 12 to 0 count in a good game, and, not kidding, it was as good a game as better than most varsity's put up, including our own.

The scrappy reserve mentor sent his second team against the Philipsburg team and completely redeemed the football showing here Saturday. The second stringers fought like super-men and this alone meant victory.

The score 12 to 0 goes to show it was a classy game but it does not thoroughly indicate the trend of play. The game in parts was about even although the play showed the local team to be the superior squad. The Smith team was a slight bit heavier than the visitors but they were more than slightly better as Clearfield scored 11 first downs to Philipsburg's 4. In yardage gained C. H. S. got 236 yards and P. H. S. got 119 yards. In the passing and punting things were about even.

For the visitors Peters, Jette and Demi looked good while their powerful line was also no "tuffy" to get through.

Shugrue and Rowles were the big wheels of the Steele machine. Shugrue with his ball running and Rowles with the "Horatius" act at the bridge. Smith and Snyder also played well. While all showed the spectators that the local High School is "well heeled" for the future on the gridiron.

Capt. Smith opened the attack by sending McLaughlin to kick off to the P. H. S. seconds. The play was even and interesting the first period with no scoring but good playing marking both teams. The local team took the ball on its 30 yard line to start the second period. As the period opened, it did them and with Snyder, Smith, McLaughlin and Shugrue carrying the ball a score was soon chalked up. Shugrue on two plays scoring from the 70 yard line on the first while the second being a ten yard pass to the 100 yard line. Smith had to hustle a little and he missed his dropkick for the point. This was the last eventful play of the second period, which ended with Clearfield on their opponent's 45 yard line.

Beginning the third period the Red and Black stepped on it and in less than five minutes Rowles had tallied. The visitors were shoved back and finally resorted to punt out but a bad pass from center just delayed the back long enough for Hughes to hit him very hard. The visiting back dropped the ball and Rowles covered it over the goal line for the final score, as the try for point was no good. From this till the end of the game few thrills were given but the game was well worth seeing, and I don't mean perhaps.

Weight Means Nothing

It makes no difference how big or small you are in football. The star of the Ohio State team proves that. "Elmer" Pothoff, star guard of the Buckeyes, weighs 270 pounds. Bobby Watts, the center, weighs exactly 124 pounds less. Yet both are of equal value to the team, and rank with the best forwards in the Western Conference.

AUTO VICTIM BADLY HURT

Mrs. Andrew Murphy, of Lumber City, who is a patient at the Clearfield Hospital as a result of being struck by an automobile on West Market street Monday evening, is found to have been very seriously injured. Her most serious injury is a compound fracture of the skull at the base of the brain.

She was resting comfortably this morning but little hope of her recovery is held out to her family by the attending physicians.

Curwensville Defeats Mahaffey In Slow And Uninteresting Session

Curwensville played the last home game until the first of November, with a first year team from Mahaffey. As was expected the game was entirely one-sided as regards the score, it ending 55 to 0 in Curwensville's favor. The visiting team was made up of inexperienced and untrained men who, however, did not lack in fighting spirit. From the beginning of the game until the end of the third quarter the Mahaffey team fought with all the knowledge and strength they possessed. Having only two substitutes and losing three men by injuries by the end of the third quarter Mahaffey was forced to depend on Curwensville to make a complete team during the last quarter.

The game opened with Curwensville kicking to Mahaffey. After making first down Mahaffey was held on their 35 yard line and Curwensville was repeated three more times in the first quarter. Curwensville using only thirteen plays in all. Coach Black then filled the team with substitutes. The scoring showed down, Curwensville making one touchdown and one field goal during the second quarter. The third quarter yielded only one touchdown. At the end of this quarter the third injury to the Mahaffey team necessitated substitution from the Curwensville reserve. By the end of the quarter eight were sent in. The last quarter might have been called a scrimmage for the home team.

For the home team it is hard to say who starred. McFadden and Bloom on ends, Brunetti, Maurey and Wall in the backfield were the ones most noticed. For Mahaffey Frier was hurt near the end of the first quarter. Woods was probably the star of the game.

Mr. Wm. Hagerty, Pine St., City: I am still using my Sunshine stove after 35 years of continued use. Well pleased with its performance; a good baker and the big fire box is in excellent condition. The original grate is still being used.

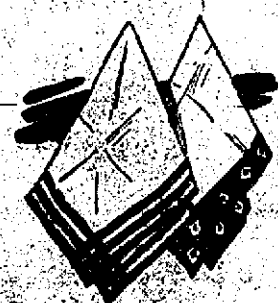

Mr. John H. Martin, Market Street: My Othello stove has been in constant use since I bought it 27 years ago. The top is in excellent condition at the present, showing no signs of warping. I have only burned out one grate in that time. It still has the same waterback and is highly satisfactory in every particular.

Mr. Geo. L. Norris, West Market St.: My old type Othello has lasted me 24 years and I am still using it every day. I have had very satisfactory service and highly recommend it in every way.

Curwensville's Own Column

Daniel Irwin of Grampian and Miss Jean Shively of Curwensville were united in marriage by the bride's pastor, Dr. J. V. Adams, at the Methodist parsonage at 3 o'clock p. m. Tuesday. The impressive ring ceremony of the Methodist ritual being used. Mr. and Mrs. Irwin are estimable young people of the community. They will make their future home in Grampian.

Mrs. Murphy of Lumber City and mother of Jay Murphy this place, was severely injured when struck by an automobile at Clearfield Monday afternoon. She was taken to the hospital where her condition is said to be critical at this writing.

Next Sabbath at the Methodist Episcopal Church at the morning service at 11 o'clock Rev. Dr. J. V. Adams will preach on the subject, "Making the Best Use of Our Minds." This sermon will be of interest to all young people now in school, and parents are asked to encourage their attendance at this service. At the evening service at 7:30 the sermon will be delivered by R. R. Kohr of Harrisburg, a son-in-law of the pastor. Mr. Kohr is a licensed local preacher of the Methodist Church and is in great demand as a speaker at church and fraternal meetings. He was a lieutenant in the overseas army during the late war, spending the last year of the struggle as an officer in the machine gun battalions at the front. He will no doubt be heard with profit by a large evening audience.

Are you miserable with an aching back? Feel tired, nervous and run down? Do you have daily headaches, dizzy spells and annoying urinary disorders? Then why not take the advice of a Clearfield resident who suffered as you do and found lasting relief by using Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys? Here is a Clearfield case that the years haven't changed. Why not profit by it?

Lewis E. Wise, prop. restaurant, 2 Nichols St., residence 404 River St., gave the following statement February 17, 1917:

"I was taken with pain in my back. I couldn't bend over and I had pains in my limbs, too. I used Doan's Pills and the pains and lameness in my back left."

On September 17, 1923, Mr. Wise said: "The cure Doan's made for me has lasted."

W. C. T. U. HOLDS TWO INTERESTING MEETINGS

Two interesting meetings of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union have been held, one at the home of Mrs. John Hughes on South Second street where a detailed report of the County Convention was given. The other meeting was held at the home of Mrs. S. P. Schenk on Clearfield street, on Friday evening.

After reading of the Scripture by the President, the Lord's prayer was repeated in unison by the members.

During the last meeting before the general election, much of the time was devoted to that. Mrs. Chorpene read an article from the Union journal, the subject being "Is it unfair to call Mr. La Follette a wet candidate?" From the Congressional Record the Signal quoted La Follette's words: "I have never believed in the principle of prohibition, and I have never supported it. I believe that it is the best method of dealing with the problem."

Senator La Follette voted against the Volstead Code, and the Prohibition Bill, also. It is unfair to characterize him as a wet candidate.

Mrs. Linder read "Allegiance to the Nation," an article showing that the allegiance to law is to the Nation.

"To vote or not to vote," a patriotic song, "Debate it? No! 'Tis not for us to fight to win, but we've done makes real the Nation. There's the respect. Makes the Nation, the weapon for the Nation," read by Mrs. Dietrich.

Mrs. Bank read "Get out the vote," and telling also in a patriotic song, the importance of just one vote. Also, "Destiny by Law."

Mrs. Hamilton read the "Tales of the Olden Time," which all have read and know, is one half of the story.

Mrs. Linder read the story of a train conductor, as told by himself, and being on the West Side, became a strong advocate of the Dry.

Mrs. Linder's daily observations and on his train, which showed that the Amendment had not been a success of the observance and fifth, when formerly existed.

At the end of these meetings excellent refreshments were served during the social time.

A Ride Will Prove All The Amazing Facts About The Chrysler Six

The fact that the Chrysler Six is not only different from conventional cars, but is vastly superior has created a demand that has taxed the resources of a great organization.

The whole country is talking about this car. You yourself have undoubtedly heard much about its performance, its economy and its other unusual characteristics.

But if you have not examined it, ridden in it, driven it, you have no real appreciation of the contribution it has made to the advancement of motoring.

There are many other things that will arouse your enthusiasm when you ride in the car. You will be especially impressed with the way space has been engineered. Chrysler cars are not excessive in size. Yet they offer the spacious comfort ordinarily associated with heavier cars.

A demonstration awaits you at any time that suits your convenience.

LONE BANDIT WHO ROBBED BANK AND SHOT TROOPER MAY HAVE BEEN CHAPMAN

State Trooper From the
Harrisburg Barracks Is
Shot to Death As He
Overtakes Fleeing Car.

AT CAL'DNIA PARK

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 15 (INS).—Twenty-one State troopers, armed with orders to "shoot to kill," are combing the mountains of central Pennsylvania this morning for some trace of the bank robber who held up the Abbottstown bank, took $1,200 in cash, and then killed State policeman Francis L. Haley, of this place, in escaping.

Major Lynn Adams this morning said he had every reason to believe that the highwayman was Gerald Chapman, the $1,000,000 mail robber who on Sunday killed a New Britain policeman when he detected robbery.

Yesterday afternoon a masked bandit stepped into the Abbottstown bank while the cashier, Harry Stamm, was alone. Flourishing a gun he demanded that the cashier give him all of the cash in the safe. He then leaped into an automobile bearing a New York State license and fled toward Gettysburg.

Trooper Haley was assigned to man down the man and at Gratiotville, Pa., at California Park, when the trooper pulled his motorcycle alongside the car and ordered the bandit to surrender. He was met with a hail of bullets. He died instantly.

Troopers Land Pretty Big Rum Prize While Looking For Bandits

Gettysburg, Pa., Oct. 14.—Ferdinand Crockenberg, of Gettysburg, Pa., is languishing in the Clearfield county jail at the present time and some good citizens of Pennsylvania are mourning the loss of a consignment of 150 quarts of brandy and whiskey and a Gordon gin as a result of the confiscation of the liquor by state police near this city early Sunday morning.

Crockenberg, the driver of the truck containing the liquor, which was destined for Pottsville, was unable to produce the $2,000 bail set for his release at a hearing held at the county jail where he is held.

A hearing of the stock valued at $100 on the truck came about as a result of the efforts of troopers stationed in this city to apprehend the bandit. The troopers pay roll bandits. When the men were taken to the look-out post, the men might be heading in this direction. The two members of the force stationed in this city took up their position near Luthersburg early Sunday morning. All cars traveling along the road were stopped, and at five o'clock a truck traveling towards the west was stopped and the driver was taken into custody.

An examination of the truck was made and the cargo of wet goods were found. Crockenberg was placed under arrest and brought to this city, his hearing being held yesterday afternoon.

He was found guilty on two charges, that of violating the liquor law, and of violating section twenty of the motor law—running the truck with only one light burning.

At the hearing he stated that he was running the liquor through to Pottsville from Pittston, and was to receive fifty dollars for his work. Although he stated it was his first trip through this section with a consignment, he was entirely familiar with the surrounding roads. He stated that the party who was shipping through the liquor had been following him in another car, efforts are being made by the troopers to apprehend him. It has been known for some time that consignments of liquor have been passing through this section, but the arrest of Sunday is the first in which the transient trade has suffered interference.

"GOVERNMENT NEVER GETS AHEAD OF THE RELIGION OF A COUNTRY", COOLIDGE DECLARES IN ADDRESS AT MONUMENT TO BISHOP ASBURY

By GEORGE E. DURNO,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Washington, Oct. 15.—"The government of a country never gets ahead of the religion of a country." With that statement as his text, President Coolidge this afternoon delivered the principal address at the dedication here of a monument to Francis Asbury, first American bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church and set forth the "necessity for reliance upon religion rather than upon law."

"Our government rests upon religion," the President declared. "It is from that source that we derive our reverence for Truth and Justice, for Equality and Liberty, and for the rights of mankind, unless the people believe in these principles they cannot believe in our government."

The President upheld "the virtue of man," as superior to the authority of law, maintaining that no way exists for the substitution of the latter for the former.

"Of course," he said "we can help to restrain the vicious and furnish a fair degree of security and protection by legislation and police control, but the real reform which society in these days is seeking will come as a result of our religious convictions, or they will not come at all."

"Peace, justice, humanity, charity—these cannot be legislated into being. They are the result of a divine grace. An act of Congress may indicate that a reform is being or has been accomplished, but it does not of itself bring about a reform."

Mr. Coolidge traced the life work of Bishop Asbury and other early circuit riders and accorded to these ministers of the Gospel the real credit for the growth of the Union of the States.

"On the foundation of a religious civilization which he (Bishop Asbury) sought to build," the President said, "our country has enjoyed greater blessings of liberty and prosperity than was ever before the lot of man. These cannot continue if we neglect the work which he did. We cannot depend upon the government to do the work of religion. We cannot escape a personal responsibility for our own conduct. We cannot regard those as wise, as safe counsellors in public affairs, who deny these principles and seek to support the theory that society can succeed when the individual fails."

Commander Chase Will Speak From KDKA This Evening At Seven o'Clock

Clearfield radio fans will be interested in knowing that J. Mitchell Chase, Esq., State Commander of the American Legion, will broadcast an address from Station KDKA at Pittsburgh this evening at 7 o'clock.

We did not learn the subject of Commander Chase's talk, but it will no doubt have to do with the affairs of the American Legion in Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia.—Five nurses at the Nurses home of the Children's Hospital here last night rushed at a negro intruder who had awakened them and managed to hold him until just before the police arrived. Police pursued the man and captured him. He was 6 feet tall and powerfully built. He gave his name as Festus Allen, 39; when bogged.

The fire alarm was sounded about 1:40 this afternoon for a fire in District No. 32. The firemen raced to the home of Nino Tony on West Fourth avenue, where they found a small frame shed in the rear of the house blazing merrily.

The blaze was promptly "dehorned" by a few bucketsful of water and the usual neighborhood quiet was quickly restored.

Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 15 (INS).—At least one man was killed and it is feared the bodies of others may be found in the ruins of a section of the steel bridge over the Ohio river which collapsed here today.

Albert Coulter, of Moundsville, one of the thirty-five workmen engaged in repairing the structure, dropped 50 feet to his death when the girders gave way with a crash heard for blocks.

As a result of the accident street car traffic into the city from Ohio River points has been temporarily suspended.

HISTORY IS MADE

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Naval air Station Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 15.—Shimmering in the sunlight, the great silver coated dirigible ZR-3, soared majestically into the Lakehurst landing field at 9:17 o'clock this morning completing her epochal 4,200 mile trip across the Atlantic from Friedrichshafen, Germany.

The big cigar shaped air liner did not land immediately but floated aloft like a lazy whale, as if taking her time for a spot to descend. Mighty cheers went up from throngs gathered at the landing field, and strung along the highways to witness the historic event.

Airplanes circled this "queen of the air," careful to keep at a distance out of respect for the highly explosive hydrogen in the ZR-3 gas bags.

It took the ZR-3 forty-two minutes to make a landing after she was sighted at 9:17. After repeatedly circling the field, she finally turned her nose south and went over a dense grove of trees to a distance of about half a mile from the field. Then she turned back and headed slowly for the center of the field, and suddenly all her huge motors ceased humming. She appeared to stand poised in the air. She slowly descended, touching the ground at exactly 9:55.

Members of the crew threw out the forward landing line which was seized by a hundred or more "gobs" in blue uniforms with white caps. They quickly made the ship fast to the ground.

Bells clanged, automobile horns honked and people cheered wildly as the flight came to an official end. The first air pilgrim to reach the ground was Commander Jacob Henry Klein, Jr., U. S. N. He leaped exultantly to the ground and shouted to newspaper men.

"Great trip!"

Then suddenly he saw his wife in the crowd and he rushed to her. Photographers crowded about to take pictures of the ship and crew who stood looking out the windows, and Captain Klein was hurriedly summoned back to his ship.

The Germans remained in their ship as the marines, hauling on ropes that had been tossed out from the ship, proceeded to "walk" the ZR-3 toward its hangar where it was to be carefully cradled.

The Americans, however, leaped out and rushed to loved ones in the crowd that was swarming excitedly back and forth on the field. As Capt. George W. Steele Jr., future commander of the ZR-3 jumped from the ZR-3 a little white haired woman ran to him. Mrs. Steele, his mother, beat Mrs. Steele, his wife, by a step into his arms. Photographers clicked their cameras madly as the officer kissed his mother and wife in turn.

Major F. M. Kennedy, only army officer on board the air monarch insisted he was the happiest of all the Americans to see his native land again.

"Why shouldn't I be the happiest man," he declared. "I've been abroad for two years. I haven't had a square meal in that time."

From the gondolas of the pudgy, fish shaped air liner, two or three of the thirty-two aboard could be seen waving greetings to the crowd below.

In their excitement, many husky "gobs" and marines, comprising the landing crew of 400 that were to "walk" the ship to her hangar forgot

75 HOURS FLYING TIME OF ZR-3

New York, Oct. 15 (INS).—The flying time of the ZR-3 from its hangar in Friedrichshafen, Germany, to the coast of North America, was approximately 75 hours.

The dirigible hopped off at 6:36 at Friedrichshafen, which would be 12:36 Eastern Standard time in the United States. It was 3:50 a. m. today when she soared over North Turgo, a little town tucked away on Cape Cod.

to stand at attention and gave forth a lusty cheer.

Meanwhile the history making ZR-3, with its complement of 32 men, American Army and navy officers and twenty-eight German officers and crew, continued to proudly circle the field, noting the landing signals displayed in giant letters on the ground below.

The ZR-3 had made the long non-

WYOMING HOPES TO BEAT TEXAS HAVING WOMAN GOVERNOR

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 15 (INS).—"Beat Texas to it" was the slogan of Wyoming Democrats today following the nomination late yesterday of Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, widow of the late Governor W. B. Ross, as the party's gubernatorial candidate.

Wyoming, pioneer woman's suffrage state, would also be the first to inaugurate a woman as governor, the delegates declared.

Mrs. Ross, a refined, capable woman, was prepared to "carry on" the duties of her husband, provided, she said, the people of Wyoming expressed that desire by their votes on November 4.

"While I believe as a general proposition that most public offices can be filled by women quite as satisfactorily as men," the widow told International News Service at the executive mansion here, "a public career for myself never previously had any appeal."

"I appreciate far beyond my ability to express, the honor conferred upon me by unanimous vote of the delegates," she continued. "But I regard it as a tribute to my departed husband, giving further substantial evidence of the high esteem in which he was held by the people of this state."

The Republican state convention yesterday nominated E. J. Sullivan of Basin as candidate for Governor. Both state conventions were called as the result of Governor Ross' death last month.

CREW OF ZR-3 SEND GREETINGS TO CITY OF NEW YORK AND AMERICA BY DROPPING NOTE THROUGH THE AIR

New York, Oct. 15 (INS).—Greetings from the German builders of the ZR-3 to the future owners of the big dirigible were transmitted to America via International News Service from Dr. Hugo Eckener, her commander, as the silvery air cruiser thrust its huge bulk through the air lanes above New York today.

A tiny parachute wafted down from the air liner. Attached to the parachute was a bundle of letters addressed to International News Service, and this signed greetings from Dr. Eckener:

"New York, we salute you!
"In sight of the skyline of this wonderful metropolis the ZR-3 dips its bow and sends sincere

ONE BIG SPEECH IS ALL MR. COOLIDGE WILL HAVE TO MAKE

By GEORGE E. DURNO,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Washington, Oct. 14.—One major speech and a series of short, impromptu addresses will complete President Coolidge's personal participation in his campaign for continuance in the White House, it was learned definitely today. The President will not, however, leave Washington, depending upon the press and the radio to get his views before the public.

The big concluding speech of his campaign will be delivered here before eastern members of the United States Chamber of Commerce on Oct. 21. Taxation, tariff, immigration and governmental economy will be discussed at that time.

With this one exception, however, the President will pursue diligently his "back porch" campaign wherein he meets, and delivers brief addresses to comparatively small delegations from the South Portico of the White House, or attends strictly local celebrations.

Tentative arrangements have been made for the President to speak over the radio on October 26 to a New York banquet of the Federated Jewish Charities. Other invitations are pouring in daily from which the executive may select the remainder of his engagements.

The President will leave Washington on the night of November 3 for Northampton, Mass., where he and Mrs. Coolidge will cast their votes on election day.

Fatal Automobile-Rail Collision At Titusville; Two Are In Hospital

Oil City, Pa., Oct. 15 (INS).—Morris Shambaugh, of Titusville, is dead, and William and John Beck, of the same city, are in the Oil City hospital suffering from injuries received when the automobile in which they were riding was demolished by the Titusville accommodation train on the Pennsylvania railroad.

The accident occurred on a crossing above Petroleum Center this morning. A dense fog prevented the men from seeing the approaching train. The train stopped and brought the men to this city Shambaugh dying a few minutes after arriving here. John Beck is a well known baseball player in this region.

NEW VERSION OF "BUSINESS IS BUSINESS" IS GIVEN BY EDITOR MERRILL THORPE

The Phillipsburg Rotary Club was the host last evening to the members of the Huntingdon and Clearfield Rotary Clubs at dinner at the Hotel Phillips, and at the same time offered their guests opportunity to hear Merrill Thorpe, editor of "The Nation's Business," of Washington, D. C., in his now internationally famous talk on "Business Is Business."

The distinguished editor, than whom there is none other in these United States better qualified to talk on the subject, gave one of the most entertaining and instructive talks on this all-important subject we have ever listened to.

Mr. Thorpe, refraining from the use of trills and fraps of the orator, simply talks to his audience in a common sense conversational tone by which he is able to put his thoughts across with startling directness and in a manner which leaves no doubt of the sincerity of the speaker and demonstrates the fact that here is one speaker who knows exactly what he Middleburg, Pa., Oct. 15 (INS).—Taking the stand in her own defense Mrs. Annie Willow today told graphic story of abuse and brutality of Harvey Willow, her husband, for whose murder she is indicted.

Under questioning of her counsel, she told all the details of her early life, her courtship by Willow and their married life.

"He was cruel to me. He beat me, kicked me, choked me and then threw me down the steps," she testified.

This occurred five years after their marriage.

Putting the woman on the stand was the first move of the defense and came as a complete surprise to the prosecution. The crowded courtroom was tense as the woman took the stand.

"For three years after our marriage," she testified, "we lived apart; he worked at Northumberland and I stayed at home. Then we went to housekeeping."

"His abuse began two years after our marriage and continued through our married life at various intervals until late last year."

Prosecution moved with speed in closing their case.

Ralph Shadel, 18, who committed the murder, was again called to the stand. He testified to having shot and killed Harvey Willow. His testimony was introduced to establish the fact that Willow had been murdered. He was not cross examined.

In his opening address to the jury attorney B. E. Pawling, defense counsel outlined the plans in asking acquittal of the woman.

Middleburg, Pa., Oct. 15 (INS).—Evidence of a sensational nature purported to show Mrs. Annie Willow as the victim of a cruel husband and a "lying lover," was promised today by defense counsel, who will ask acquittal of the woman in this strange farmland murder.

The woman is fighting death in the electric chair for her part in the alleged "partner slaying" of her husband by 18-year-old Ralph Shadel. He has been convicted of killing Harvey Willow and now awaits the beginning of his 10 to 20-year sentence in the Eastern penitentiary.

The alleged cruelty of Harvey Willow will be brought out in testimony by a dozen witnesses, chief of defense counsel A. W. Johnson said, and evidence of his wicked temper will be illustrated by incidents during his life. Dr. E. R. Decker, the Willow family's physician, will be called again to testify of treating the badly beaten woman on several occasions.

He testified for the state yesterday.

By roughly scrawled notes from Shadel to Mrs. Willow shortly after their arrest, defense counsel said they hoped to show that the woman was not the malign influence over the youth that she was pictured. Several of them read:

"I have to save myself."

Flight in the phenomenal time of about 80 hours averaging close to a mile a minute. This exceeds as a commercial feat, anything on record, overshadowing the achievement of the liner Leviathan in spanning the Atlantic in four and one-half days.

As the ZR-3 soared above in the air, her silvery sides glistening and her powerful motors thrumming to and fro, that gradually sounded like a rumble, the people scurried after her, following her from one end of the field to the other.

Little knots of people stood on the grass and waved back to the men in the gondolas high in the air.

The ZR-3 came into Lakehurst at a height of about 2,000 feet, dipped her snub nose downward and steadily came closer to the ground. All the while, however, continuing to slowly circle the field. There was a terrific din of auto horns as the big liner seemed to descend perfectly still in mid-air, in the center of the field. The roar of motors by this time, had become deafening. The very buildings seemed to vibrate.

Though momentarily indicating she was about to descend, Commander Dr. Hugo Eckener, apparently changed his mind, and the ZR-3 turned its nose about and swung in the air. At 9:25, eight minutes after she was sighted, she fell in the air, hardly higher than the first class office building sky-line.

ZR-3 landed at 9:55 a. m., and the crowd that rushed to the landing field to where the ship came to rest.

By LARRY SMITH
I. N. S. Correspondent
York, Oct. 15.—Safe over her homeland after a record voyage across the Atlantic and a struggle against adverse winds which buffeted her northward, the big dirigible cruised over New York early while the city rubbed the sleep from its eyes and joined in a cheer that must have carried up to the gondolas of the huge air voyager.

Passing Boston at 4:18 a. m. the dirigible headed south along the coast, left Newport R. I. behind at dawn and thence along the shore of Long Island, across the lower harbor and thence up the Hudson River, while the city shrieked its greeting.

The dirigible passed the ferry-house at St. George, Staten Island at 7:45 a. m., headed toward the statue of Liberty. She was flying low through a heavy haze. In the haze, thickened early morning light, she gleamed dully as she slid through the fog up the Hudson river.

As the big silver ship reached the end of Manhattan Island over the Hudson, she swung gracefully and pointed her nose down toward the battery again, following Broadway as she bisected the cheering city in her course.

Shouldering her way through the morning mists at a brisk speed, the last Zeppelin which Germany can make under the terms of the Versailles treaty moved over a cheering city in a swing of triumph before heading toward Lakehurst, N. J. There the German experts, who built her and brought her safely over miles of ocean will turn her over to the United States Navy.

Wave after wave of welcoming sound rose in a crescendo of enthusiasm as the dirigible robbed her silver sheen by the low hanging haze, sped the length of the city toward the canyons of Wall Street. At the Battery she again turned west, swung in a great circle around Lower New York and again west, toward Lakehurst.

The landing at Lakehurst, first expected at 8 a. m. was postponed until between 9 and 10, according to a message from Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the ZR-3 to naval communications at Washington, picked up by local radio stations.

New York was abed, or just getting up when the dirigible was first sighted, but news of her arrival and the paean of greeting that rose in a Titan chorus from many whistles, brought late risers to the streets, which quickly were filled to rush hour proportions.

Windows of lofty office buildings, ordinarily not filled until their workaday inhabitants arrived two hours later, were sought as vantage points from which the canyons of the city could not shut off a view of the air traveler.

North Turo, Mass., a little town on Cape Cod near the North Highland light had the honor of being the first place on American soil to hail the big bird of passage.

(Driving down the coast toward Boston and New York at a clip of better than fifty knots an hour from the northward position to which adverse winds had driven her late yesterday and last night, the ZR-3 passed over North Turo at 3:15 a. m. today.

Boston was next in the line of flight and as the lights of the city cruiser showed at 4:18 a. m. a city yet in darkness joined the whistles at the Boston Navy yard and from coastwise shipping in a greeting to her. A light at her prow and a light astern showed as the dirigible slid far above the city.

Dawn was breaking clear and mild as she passed New Port R. I. one hundred miles from New York at 5:30 o'clock. She was holding to a good speed around sixty miles an hour.

As the dirigible neared New York in the broadening light, four army airplanes swooped up from Mitchell Field, L. I. as an escort to the big ship. Dwarfed by the ponderous proportions of the ZR-3, they were but gnats humming around a Leviathan of the sky.

As American soil slipped under her keel with the success of the trans-Atlantic dirigible voyage assured messages of greetings buzzed from the ZR-3 to stations on the ground. They came from the American naval officers to their families and intimates and from the German commander and crew to anxious wives and children waiting in Germany.

Grouping Of Railroads Was Discussed By "Big Four" Last Saturday

Washington, Oct. 12.—A completely revised plan of consolidating the great trunk line railroads of the East into four systems instead of the nine tentatively proposed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, is understood to have been placed before the commission as an outgrowth of Saturday's conference here with President Patrick Crotty of the New York Central Lines, Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio and Samuel Rea of the Pennsylvania Lines, and O. V. and M. J. Van Sweringen of the Nickel Plate System, whose proposed Nickel Plate merger would upset the commission's tentative plans.

The substitute plan, it is understood, contemplates four great Eastern systems built about the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and Nickel Plate Systems.

According to information in well informed railroad circles, such a plan would assign the Reading Company and the Central of New Jersey to the Baltimore and Ohio system, which owns the controlling interest in them.

The Norfolk and Western, given a system of its own in the commission's tentative plan, would be assigned to the Pennsylvania Lines, and the Lackawanna and the Virginian railroads, grouped by the commission in the New England-Great Lakes and the Chesapeake and Ohio systems respectively, would be assigned to the Nickel Plate.

The New York Central would be given trackage rights over the Central of New Jersey Railroad and the Philadelphia and Reading into Northern New Jersey and Northeastern Pennsylvania.

SORT OF DOUBT THE STORY

Editor Progress:

We noticed in the Progress of October 13th a front page article concerning the doings of W. Banks Holmes while at Erie attending the fireman's convention. This article states Mr. Holmes was stopping with and entertained by an old friend, a minister. Now that sounds very well but perhaps that is laying it on in chunks too large. Who ever heard of a fireman while attending a state convention wearing spectacles and searching for a sky pilot? He would have to be well loaded and recovering with a severe headache if acting in that strange manner.

We are a little soft and quite green but that is pretty raw stuff on which to feed us. Can swallow the balance of the article without a single gulp, but choke on the minister section. Banks give us something more easily digested. You are now trying to pull one over. We believe almost any statement you may make, but that minister dope is too strong for our stomach. We draw a broad line right there and renig. We won't stand for fairy tales or impossibilities. May at times local papers do a good deal still in the picture and can't stand that minister medicine.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

John Shade Post of the American Legion in carrying out the aims and objects of that organization has decided to give Clearfield an effective employment bureau which will endeavor to get the unemployed of the community, from time to time, acquainted with the employers of labor in the region and thus get man and job together.

The employers of labor in this community are in receipt of a communication of recent date in which the objects of the Legion's Employment Bureau is set forth as follows. It being the object of the bureau to—

"Second: To offer to our support Clearfield and the districts immediately surrounding, an Employment Bureau, free of any financial obligations."

The following explanation of the new departure is then given:

"Unless we are thoroughly acquainted with the ability of an applicant, we will not recommend him to any company applying to this Bureau for men. We will, however, send him to the office of the possible employer for an interview and the employer can form his own idea as to the man's ability."

"Legion men are not to receive preference. In securing help for the various plants we will consider the work to be done first, then the man. We are of course anxious to place men of our own organization, but not unless the applicant can measure up to the job."

W. E. Fluck is chairman of the bureau and its services are available free of charge at any time and employers will do well to keep in touch with the organization.

In his talk on "Business Is Business," before the Philipsburg Rotary Club and its guests from Huntingdon

TEACHERS IN CIVIC AFFAIRS

The time seems almost ripe for abandoning the ancient jokes about the impracticality of the academic mind. College presidents and professors are mixing in rather lively fashion in practical affairs of all sorts. Politics, particularly, appears to have made room for them. They are plucked from the halls of learning to sit in cabinets; they help write municipal charters; they frequently run for high offices and sometimes they are elected; they serve in diplomatic capacities; they are sent abroad on special commissions.

On the whole, too, they make good in all these tasks just as they made good in their professorial capacity before they received public recognition of their ability.

This looks as though a different attitude toward the teaching profession were gaining strength. It has often been said in the past that the teacher's service to the community was not sufficiently appreciated, that practical persons in business or political or other groups rather looked down upon the school teacher as being visionary and unable to cope with the facts of business or political life.

Whether this marks a change solely in the public mind, or whether it indicates a genuine change in the professorial mind, it is difficult to say. In either case, it seems to indicate a wholesome development, so long as it does not go too far in depriving young learners of their best teachers.

THE DOUBTFUL ZEPPELIN

The ZR-3, the government's latest acquisition in dirigible warships, is described by her German builders as the "noblest of all Zeppelins." She probably deserves that title. Her performance in crossing the Atlantic speaks for itself. And yet—there is always a reservation where dirigibles are concerned.

Granting that she is the best of her type, the intelligent follower of aviation history, in the case of any undertaking on the part of such a craft, hopes for the best rather than counts on assured performance.

All flying, as yet, is a gamble. But the dirigible, or lighter-than-air craft, seems more of a gamble than the non-buoyant airplane. Perhaps it should be the other way, but records show that it is not. The very buoyancy of the dirigible balloon, which sustains her when the engines stop, is a bad handicap in a hurricane. The wind may blow her out of her course, because she lacks speed enough to buck it. A gale may carry her away when she is tailed off from a mooring mast, so immense hangars must be provided for her shelter. If filled with hydrogen gas, as the ZR-3 has been so far, she is always in peril of explosion from a chance spark from a wire, flame from the engine or a stroke of lightning. Though strong, the framework of such craft has been known to buckle.

Such considerations weigh heavily against the two big advantages of the Zeppelin type, which are that it can carry a heavy load and has a greater cruising range than any existing airplane. In the stern test of war, the Zeppelins were discarded by Germany in favor of planes. It is still to be proved whether for either war or peace the improved Zeppelin is worth perpetuating as a practical aircraft. There is great value, however, in the government's experiments along this line, no matter which way they result.

Are You Nervous? Anemic?

Follow This Advice

Harrisburg, Pa.—"About a year ago when I was in an anemic condition, I was nervous, without appetite and lost flesh. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as a tonic and blood-purifier and three bottles restored my appetite, I gained in weight, the nervousness disappeared and my blood was in better condition than it had been for some time. I have never taken any medicine more pleasant or easier to take than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and what I gained in weight and health seems to have been a permanent gain."—Mrs. Helen Lenig, 409 Cumberland St.

TRANSFER, PLEASE

By FLORENCE DAVIES

"If you're on the gloomy line, get a transfer," sings a cheer-up writer. "Get off the track of doubt and gloom, get on the sunshine track, there's room."

"Sunshine and blue sky, autumn's mellowest air at last, and yet some folks think they have more troubles than anybody else!"

The stay-at-home woman who spends most of her time brooding over her own real or fancied misfortunes needs to get out into the fresh air among other folks and find just where the "sunshine track" is running.

One of the gloomy line passengers was given her transfer in an unusual way the other day. She had passed through the market and down the street with no eye for the beauty of autumn's stores—the ruddy and purpling and pale green grapes, red checked apples and peaches, golden oranges and bananas; the heaped-up vegetables, from feathery-topped celery to cabbages and sweet potatoes. In fact, she was as tired of ordering meals as she had been in earlier days of preparing them.

What was the use, anyway? Eating to live seemed as bad as living to eat, when each day seemed merely a monotonous round from dull duty to meaningless search for a new time killer, and so on till the gloomy-go-round circle was complete?

And then, passing the entrance of a shabby court near the very heart of the shopping center, the answer came. It came in the form of a sudden tableau, in which a young woman in the garb of a visiting nurse, and a small girl in faded gingham were participants, the child having rushed to clasp her friend about the waist, with all the strength of her little pipestem arms.

"O Miss Marian," cried the eager little voice, "What do you think? Dad's leg is all better and he's got a job, and we're going to eat regular again!"

There were still homes, then, even in her own rich city, where the dishes stayed in the cupboard because there was nothing to put on them. Where even a 'piece' in hand came at sadly uncertain intervals. Where all the heaped-up stuff in the markets was only a bitter reminder of the empty cupboard at home.

Then and there our gloomy-line passenger presented her transfer to the sunshine track conductor.

LESSON NO. 4

LIGHTING THE LAUNDRY

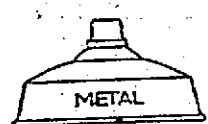

Neither washing clothes nor ironing them is the easiest kind of work. Even when an electric washing machine and an electric ironing machine are used, the weekly wash day is a busy one.

There are little spots of dirt to be washed away—sometimes, we have to look twice to be sure that the clothes are quite clean; there are wrinkles and plaits to be ironed carefully. So we need light that will make it easier for us to see what we are doing; lighting that will let us see at a glance whether the clothes are clean and whether the iron has smoothed out all of the wrinkles.

Many homes have a separate room, sometimes in one corner of the basement, where the washing and ironing are done. In such homes the laundry tubs are found in the kitchen and the same room is used both for cooking and for laundry work.

Where the laundry tubs are put in the kitchen, the lighting equipment in Lesson No. 8 will be satisfactory, unless the room is a large one. In this case it may be necessary to add a bracket fixture on the wall behind the tubs, with a 50-watt white bulb or a 75-watt daylight or blue bulb. This bulb should be covered with a deep, open bottom, milk-white glass shade. The daylight or blue glass bulb will make it easier to see scorchers.

When the laundry tubs are in a separate room, we need a light close up at the ceiling and over the tubs. It should have a 150-watt daylight or blue bulb or a 100-watt clear bulb with a metal reflector like this:

or a dense, milk-white glass shade which is open at the bottom and deep enough to completely cover the bulb, like this:

If the room is a large one, we may need two or three of these lights at the ceiling. In most laundry rooms, one over the tubs will give good lighting. When others are used, put them over the ironing board and over the space that is used for hanging the clothes up to dry indoors.

The convenience of the electric appliances should be in the wall, not less than 36 inches above the floor, so that the cord with which we connect them will not be on the floor and get wet.

LIGHTING THE BASEMENT
The basement of our homes usually contains the heating equipment and storage space. At least one light is needed in front of the furnace or heater. It should have a 60-watt bulb and a metal or glass shade of this shape, long enough to cover the bulb.

A similar light is needed for the fruit closet, and perhaps for the coal bin.

The stairway to the basement must be lighted by a separate light, unless one of the other lights is very close to it. The light that is used for this purpose should be installed so that it may be turned on and off from the top of the stairs in order that we may see our way down at night.

LIGHTING THE WORKBENCH
Perhaps father or brother has a workbench in the basement where he builds radio sets, or takes the smaller parts of the auto to put them in good condition.

This workbench needs two lights over it, one at each end. If only one light is used, the shadows that it will make are very annoying. If two lights are used, each one lights up the shadows made by the other one.

You know when you have a table lamp with only one bulb in it lighted, and all of the other lights in the room are turned out, that if you start to make lines with a ruler, the ruler sometimes makes a shadow just where you are trying to put the line. But if you turn on the other lights in the room, this shadow fades out and you can see nicely.

That is why we need two lights at the ceiling over a workbench, and why one of them should be over the center of one end of the bench and one over the other end of the bench and about six inches in front of it.

In the Courts

Henry Spesock, a crippled child, whose predicament came to the attention of the authorities during the DuBois Rotary Club's recent "crippled children's" survey, was directed to be taken to the orthopedic department of St. Francis hospital in Pittsburgh for treatment, by an order made by Judge Chase in Juvenile Court yesterday. The order calls for the expenditure of $250 from the County Treasury. R. G. Howard, of DuBois, was delegated to take the boy to the hospital.

An order was made in the case of Thomas and Benjamin Croggs directing that $24 per month be paid for the support of their aged mother. Some of the other children in the family having refused to contribute to the support of their mother this court action was instituted to compel them to bear their share of such expense.

Another flock of bootleggers were sent down to visit with Warden Billy McClure at the jail for periods ranging from 10 days to 4 months at a brief session of sentence court yesterday morning, each defendant having entered a plea of guilty to a charge of violating the liquor law.

Rozz Alexander, of Madera, was fined $100 and costs for illegal possession.

John Lachovich, of the Houtzdale country, who made and sold moonshine, was given a fine of $500 and the costs and four months in jail.

Andy Kopchick, of Decatur township, another vendor got $400 fine and the costs and 4 months.

Mike Polock, from the same section, who made a little but left no evidence of sale, was given $200 fine and costs and 10 days in jail.

George Kephart, of Decatur township, was given $100 fine and costs and 4 months. His father, William Kephart, had a nolle proes entered against him following the son's plea of guilty.

John Coleman, of near Osceola, got a fine of $300 and costs and 4 months in jail, for his bootlegging operations.

Albert Zins, of Houtzdale, was stalked for $100 and costs with a 10 day stay in jail for manufacturing and possessing.

John Neiders, who deserted his four children ranging in age from 3 1/2 to 15 years was before Judge Chase yesterday and got an order to pay $30 per month for the support of the children. He was also directed to pay $15 additional per month to Probation Officer Carl Anderson until he had reimbursed Clearfield county for the $110 spent by the county in caring for the children.

Theodore Gilks was fined $1.00 and costs on a desertion and non-support charge with the further direction to contribute $25 per month toward the support of his wife and family.

Guy Baird also in court on a desertion and non-support charge, was allowed to go on payment of the costs.

WILL WORK OUT SATISFACTORILY

For the past ten days New York Central officials have been making a test of a new haulage arrangement on the Pennsylvania Division between Avis and Cherrytree. Under the new plan local railroad men or some of them at least, feared they would be forced to remove from Clearfield and locate in either of the two places first mentioned.

The new arrangement caused quite a change or shakedown locally and resulted in very slack work for the local crews. Alarmed at the possibility of such conditions continuing the railroad men made known their fears and the matter was taken up with Division Supt. Howard Scott by the Commercial club. The reply of Supt. Scott which stated the fears of the men were groundless in this instance, was printed recently in this paper.

A committee of the employees of the N. Y. C. visited Supt. Scott yesterday and were personally assured by that official that while some new arrangement was in contemplation regarding the operation of trains between Avis and Cherrytree there would be no change in the status or residence of their employees although it may be necessary for the crews to change at the Clearfield Junction, as was previously the case, instead of in the Clearfield yards, as has been done for some time past.

GRAIN OPENINGS

Chicago, Oct. 15 (INS)—Grains opened generally lower, except for oats today.

Wheat started 1/2 to 3/4 lower with scattered selling on disappointing cables. Buying by houses with eastern and foreign connections was apparent soon after the start, however, and prices firmed up.

Corn started 1/2 to 3/4 lower largely as a result of local selling. Some buying developed on the break.

Oats started 1/4 to 3/8 cents higher with buying by commission houses and offerings limited.

Provisions started steady to a shade higher with trade light.

Not All "Fine" Arts

Juicy Fruits Valuable

Juicy fruits are the best and most wholesome of the raw foods, and while they provide little in the way of starch, fat or protein, so large is their content of organic mineral salts that we may now justly call them nature's perfect sugar-coated pills.

TRINITY CHURCH ITEMS

Last Sunday, Bible School maintained its record of advance over the 1923 figures of attendance and offering. Strangers and new members were reported. Every department worked in a fine spirit. The School heard with great interest the representatives of the Near East, Mrs. Charles W. Gannaway and her adopted daughter, Zadi, which means "daughter of freedom." They spoke in the morning worship period.

Strangers enjoyed with the regular worshippers the excellent music by the chorus in the morning and evening. Special selections were sung by Mrs. Gallaher, Miss Phillips and a male quartette. The morning text, Psalm 69:9, "Thine zeal of thine thine most acceptable singers now in any kind of evangelistic work. They will be heard not only with increasing delight but by increasing crowds. The people will come to hear these sweet singers.

At night the great passage in Revelation 19:10, "And he hath on his vesture and on his thigh a name written, KING OF KINGS and LORD OF LORDS," presented the Kingship of Jesus, treated from predictions, Christ's teachings, the judicial and moral right issuing from his death and an unselfish ministry. The sermon closed with questions: What kind of King will elicit your devotion? Certain types were offered in the career of Herod the Great, Henry VIII, and Louis XIV. Why not Christ your King? If so, then change your life. Bring yourself under His sway.

A full line of specials started with last Sunday. Last night the Queen Esther Circle met. Wednesday afternoon Home Missionary Society program will be in charge of Mrs. Jacob's group. Mid-week congregational meeting, devotional study "Ephesians," followed by an adjourned meeting of the Official Board. Very important.

Next Sunday morning Dr. Charles V. Iglehart will preach and at 2:30 deliver a special address at the Methodist Mass Meeting. The Trinity World Service Council has invited pastors and laymembers of the Methodist churches in Clearfield county and Philipsburg, accessible to the County Seat. Dr. Iglehart is a noted leader in the Orient. He understands world conditions and problems. The arrangement made by Trinity thru Dr. Morris E. Swartz, in bringing on to this Community such distinguished Churchmen every fall has been greatly appreciated by the Methodists of this entire section of the State. The Church people of every persuasion will be welcome.

Beginning with Sunday evening, November 2, Dr. D. N. Miller, of Harrisburg, will assist the pastor in special meetings. Mrs. Miller will be a male quartette. The morning text, Psalm 69:9, "Thine zeal of thine thine most acceptable singers now in any kind of evangelistic work. They will be heard not only with increasing delight but by increasing crowds. The people will come to hear these sweet singers.

Teacher Training School for this sector of the Conference opens in Trinity October 26 and holds every night to 30th. Members of sister Churches have availed themselves of this exceptional course of instruction in other centers; they will be able to take it here. Registration fee is $1. The Rev. W. L. Armstrong is registrar. Hazzard A. Murray, chairman of the local Committee.

ANOTHER HOME REFLOORED WITH CROMAR

One of the finest homes in Lancaster, Pa. Cromar laid over old floors. Owner's name on request.
(Drawn from photograph)

The Beauty of CROMAR Floors is more than surface deep

The beautiful grain and color of oak, subdued in its natural state, is brought to the surface and revealed only after passing through many finishing operations.

Have you ever witnessed the installation of an ordinary hardwood floor? Perhaps you have been inconvenienced by the scraping, sanding, filling, varnishing, waxing and polishing—a series of labors extending over days and days and days. The CROMAR method is different from this. CROMAR Oak Flooring comes to your home completely finished like fine furniture, ready to use the minute it is laid. Patented machines perform the several operations more thoroughly, more uniformly and at less cost.

is talking about and has the correct remedy for complained of conditions.

Editor Thorpe, who is also business manager of his publication which does a business of one million and a quarter dollars annually, is well qualified to talk on business by reason of his business qualities alone, but added to that is the knowledge gained by years of experience with the detailed information regarding about all the big business undertakings of the past decade. He said the destructive criticism and mouthings of the political demagogue added to the multitude of legislative remedies, which aggravated but didn't cure, spread upon the statute books of state and nation, was responsible for a very great deal of the unrest and dissatisfaction throughout the land, and said all that business needed was to be let alone to mind its own business.

To illustrate this crying need the speaker mentioned the railroads, the operation of which is hedged about by 42 federal regulating agencies and 48 state laws.

The assembled Rotarians were simply "carried away" by Mr. Thorpe's talk and accorded him a ringing vote of thanks at its conclusion.

BENJAMIN S. TONEY
Trading as TONEY BROS.

The illustration shows our present home at 307 Third Street, but this is entirely inadequate for the needs of our business. A large crew has been put to work on the construction of a steel and concrete building on Bigler Avenue, opposite the Pennsy freight station. This building is being built under the most improved ideas for the fruit and produce business. A heating room for the purpose of ripening properly tropical fruits and a cold storage room for the proper keeping of such fruits and produce as require such handling, will be among the new features of our plant.

The building will be seventy-six feet by thirty-five feet and will be the last word in a building to house a business of this kind.

Until recently the business has been conducted under the name of Toney & Sandy, but since the retirement of Mr. Sandy a short time ago, Benjamin Toney conducted and will continue to conduct the business in such a manner as to warrant the patronage of every merchant in this entire section.

WHY IT WILL PAY YOU TO TRADE IN CLEARFIELD

The local merchant is responsible for anything he sells.

The purchaser may examine any article for sale in a Clearfield store and buy only that which is satisfactory. It will be delivered without any delay. If there is any imperfection it will be remedied quickly and to your satisfaction. And when it comes to prices you will always get full value for every dollar you spend with Clear-

So let's decide now for all time to go into these Clearfield stores oftener. Let's meet each other and let the actual goods themselves supplant the prettily pictured but unknown value of the mail order house. We thank you.

FOOTBALL FANS ARE CLOSELY WATCHING SATURDAY RESULTS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. S. Sports Editor

New York, Oct. 14.—Sectional, inter-sectional and possibly national ranking may be determined by the outcome of Saturday's football games comprising in toto the most impressive list ever compiled for an October week-end. Even at that immature date, it is altogether possible that the day will uncover a team that is destined to go on to national recognition as the championship outfit of 1924.

Illinois and Michigan are potential candidates for that high honor. They will meet in the big number of the western conference schedule on Saturday, and barring a tie, will decide middle western supremacy for the moment. This game outranks in consequence even the Army-Notre Dame affair at the Polo Grounds, fairly brilliant as it does with inter-sectional significance.

Unlike the Army and Notre Dame, which conduct an annual series to the Army's annual regret, Michigan and Illinois haven't met in some years. Both laid just claim to the conference title in 1923, however, and Saturday's game was arranged with the idea of deciding something. It will.

Other meetings of consequence in the west call for Wisconsin to play Minnesota; Nebraska to take on Colorado and Southern California to face the Oregon Aggies in a coast conference game. All are of almost national import.

But they are no more so than the Dartmouth-Yale game at New Haven for the Princeton-Navy meeting at Princeton. Usually, there are eight days in the week every time two such meetings occur at one and the same time. Dartmouth is on its way back, after several misfit seasons and thinks it has a possible champion. Yale was the joint leader of the east last year and many thought it had the best team in the country. As a study in concentrated class, this game will do until a better one turns up.

Neither Princeton nor the Navy has early season strength this year but big timers will be big timers, even when they use small time stuff. Harvard and Holy Cross, Cornell and Rutgers, Syracuse and Boston College, and Washington and Jefferson and Carnegie Tech, also will furnish the big moments in the east. In the west, barring games already mentioned, it will be Chicago and Indiana and Stanford and Oregon.

The south must look to Tulane and Vanderbilt and Penn State and Georgia Tech for its leaders. A defeat for any of the teams mentioned while not necessarily conclusive, would have a definite effect upon its status. The same applies to the games involving Alabama and Tennessee and Kentucky and Washington and Lee.

WHY DON'T YOU HOWL

For the second time straight the C. H. S. grid teams played without signs of encouragement from the students in the form of cheering in group. The entire season thus far cheering has been minus and before some one has to tell them straight about time the students tumble to it.

It's no secret that support wins many close games but something seems to make it look as though the local students don't want to support a winner. They are not slow to hammer them when they lose but when they win it's just, well, its good.

Just as a comparison, New Castle High's were one thousand strong at Harrisburg last Saturday and Harrisburg is a considerable distance from New Castle, and do you suppose they just glimmed the game in silence, or did the New Castle team have the support of a real strong, longed gang of rooters. Well, anyhow, Clearfield High students ought to think it over, because they have a good team to support, if they care to do their part.

WEEK-END BIBLE CONFERENCE

A week-end Bible conference will be held at the Baptist Church beginning Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock and continuing until Sunday evening. Rev. E. H. Bancroft, of the Practical Bible Training School, of Birmingham, N. Y., will be in charge. Sessions will be held Friday and Saturday evenings at 7:30 o'clock and on Sunday at 11, 3 and 7:30 o'clock. These services will be well worth while to Bible students and all are urged to attend.

Second Stringers Look Like A "Million"; Hand Defeat To Philipsburg

You have to hand it to Asst. Coach Hugo Steele for the winning by the Red and Black second team of Monday's game. Philipsburg was "steely-eyed" and dropped the decision by a 12 to 0 count in a good game, and, not kidding, it was as good a game as better than most varsity's put up, including our own.

The scrappy reserve mentor sent his second team against the Philipsburg team and completely redeemed the football showing here Saturday. The second stringers fought like super-men and this alone meant victory.

The score 12 to 0 goes to show it was a classy game but it does not thoroughly indicate the trend of play. The game in parts was about even although the play showed the local team to be the superior squad. The Smith team was a slight bit heavier than the visitors but they were more than slightly better as Clearfield scored 11 first downs to Philipsburg's 4. In yardage gained C. H. S. got 236 yards and P. H. S. got 119 yards. In the passing and punting things were about even.

For the visitors Peters, Jette and Demi looked good while their powerful line was also no "tuffy" to get through.

Shugrue and Rowles were the big wheels of the Steele machine. Shugrue with his ball running and Rowles with the "Horatius" act at the bridge. Smith and Snyder also played well. While all showed the spectators that the local High School is "well heeled" for the future on the gridiron.

Capt. Smith opened the attack by sending McLaughlin to kick off to the P. H. S. seconds. The play was even and interesting the first period with no scoring but good playing marking both teams. The local team took the ball on its 30 yard line to start the second period. As the period opened, it did them and with Snyder, Smith, McLaughlin and Shugrue carrying the ball a score was soon chalked up. Shugrue on two plays scoring from the 70 yard line on the first while the second being a ten yard pass to the 100 yard line. Smith had to hustle a little and he missed his dropkick for the point. This was the last eventful play of the second period, which ended with Clearfield on their opponent's 45 yard line.

Beginning the third period the Red and Black stepped on it and in less than five minutes Rowles had tallied. The visitors were shoved back and finally resorted to punt out but a bad pass from center just delayed the back long enough for Hughes to hit him very hard. The visiting back dropped the ball and Rowles covered it over the goal line for the final score, as the try for point was no good. From this till the end of the game few thrills were given but the game was well worth seeing, and I don't mean perhaps.

Weight Means Nothing

It makes no difference how big or small you are in football. The star of the Ohio State team proves that. "Elmer" Pothoff, star guard of the Buckeyes, weighs 270 pounds. Bobby Watts, the center, weighs exactly 124 pounds less. Yet both are of equal value to the team, and rank with the best forwards in the Western Conference.

AUTO VICTIM BADLY HURT

Mrs. Andrew Murphy, of Lumber City, who is a patient at the Clearfield Hospital as a result of being struck by an automobile on West Market street Monday evening, is found to have been very seriously injured. Her most serious injury is a compound fracture of the skull at the base of the brain.

She was resting comfortably this morning but little hope of her recovery is held out to her family by the attending physicians.

MARGARET WATERWORTH DIES

Miss Margaret Waterworth, second daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Waterworth, passed away this morning at Saranac Lake, New York, where she had been a patient the past year, attempting to overcome an attack of tuberculosis.

Her mother was with her when the funeral was held and they will be announced tomorrow.

Thur. L. Brown, son of Andrew Brown of Grass Flat, and Miss Gerda C. Peterson, daughter of Mr. Andrew J. Peterson, of Turnpike avenue, were pronounced man and wife by Rev. E. Roy Hauser. The beautiful ring ceremony was used. The bridegroom is a cabinet maker at Jamestown, N. Curwensville Defeats Mahaffey In Slow And Uninteresting Session

Curwensville played the last home game until the first of November, with a first year team from Mahaffey. As was expected the game was entirely one-sided as regards the score, it ending 55 to 0 in Curwensville's favor. The visiting team was made up of inexperienced and untrained men who, however, did not lack in fighting spirit. From the beginning of the game until the end of the third quarter the Mahaffey team fought with all the knowledge and strength they possessed. Having only two substitutes and losing three men by injuries by the end of the third quarter Mahaffey was forced to depend on Curwensville to make a complete team during the last quarter.

The game opened with Curwensville kicking to Mahaffey. After making first down Mahaffey was held on their 35 yard line and Curwensville was repeated three more times in the first quarter. Curwensville using only thirteen plays in all. Coach Black then filled the team with substitutes. The scoring showed down, Curwensville making one touchdown and one field goal during the second quarter. The third quarter yielded only one touchdown. At the end of this quarter the third injury to the Mahaffey team necessitated substitution from the Curwensville reserve. By the end of the quarter eight were sent in. The last quarter might have been called a scrimmage for the home team.

For the home team it is hard to say who starred. McFadden and Bloom on ends, Brunetti, Maurey and Wall in the backfield were the ones most noticed. For Mahaffey Frier was hurt near the end of the first quarter. Woods was probably the star of the game.

It is installed only after the Round Oak Heating Engineers have examined a plan of your home, approved your home as suitable and have prepared special plans for the location of the furnace and registers. Satisfaction is not only thus assured you—satisfaction is GUARANTEED you. On milder days a little fuel will in ten or fifteen minutes completely remove the chill without over-heating. On bitterest cold days your house will quickly become and stay as warm and balmy as it is outdoors on an ideal summer day. Thousands of owners of homes which have long been heated by Round Oak Ironbilt Furnaces testify to these facts. Why let your family shiver in discomfort and endure colds and sickness due to inefficient heating—why waste costly fuel up your chimney—why stand for the fuss and constant nursing of a fire that never gives you the comfort it should—why tolerate a worn-out heating plant that fills the home with gas and dirt.

Why suffer these disadvantages when you can so easily take advantage of our immediate offer and enjoy comfort, health and economy with freedom from heating worries for more than the next generation to come?

Come in and see a Round Oak Ironbilt—let us point out its many advantages—let us give you the big free Round Oak Heating Book to take home and study—let us talk over our offer and show you how much it enables you to save!

Do this at once! Call today or tomorrow. Be one of the few to benefit by our offer. Get your heating problem settled for years to come—live with your family in solid comfort no matter how the wind howls outdoors. Save fuel, money, time and trouble! This is your opportunity! Take advantage of it. Do not let it pass without investigation—for investigation does not obligate you in the slightest.

Read What These Clearfield People Have To Say About Sunshine and Othello Ranges

Mr. Wm. Hagerty, Pine St., City: I am still using my Sunshine stove after 35 years of continued use. Well pleased with its performance; a good baker and the big fire box is in excellent condition. The original grate is still being used.

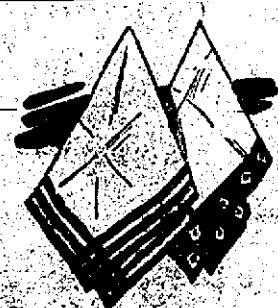

Mr. John H. Martin, Market Street: My Othello stove has been in constant use since I bought it 27 years ago. The top is in excellent condition at the present, showing no signs of warping. I have only burned out one grate in that time. It still has the same waterback and is highly satisfactory in every particular.

Mr. Geo. L. Norris, West Market St.: My old type Othello has lasted me 24 years and I am still using it every day. I have had very satisfactory service and highly recommend it in every way.

JORDAN'S

W. C. T. U. HOLDS TWO INTERESTING MEETINGS

Two interesting meetings of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union have been held, one at the home of Mrs. John Hughes on South Second street where a detailed report of the County Convention was given. The other meeting was held at the home of Mrs. S. P. Schenck on Clearfield street, on Friday evening.

After reading of the Scripture by the President, the Lord's prayer was repeated in unison by the members.

During the last meeting before the general election, much of the time was devoted to that. Mrs. Chorpene read an article from the Union journal, the subject being "Is it unfair to call Mr. La Follette a wet candidate?" From the Congressional Record the Signal quoted La Follette's speech.

"I have never believed in the principle of prohibition, and I have never supported it. I believe that it is the best method of dealing with the problem."

Senator La Follette voted against the Volstead Code, and the Prohibition Bill, also. It is unfair to characterize him as a wet candidate.

Mrs. Linder read "Allegiance to the Nation," an article showing that the allegiance to law is to the United States.

"To vote or not to vote," a patriotic speech by Mrs. Linder.

"Debate it? No! This is not a time for that fight to win, but we've done that. Makes sense, the weapon for the future is read by Mrs. Dietrich.

Mrs. Bank read "Get out the vote," and telling also in a way that the election is the importance of just one vote. Also, "Destiny by Law."

Mrs. Hamilton read the "Tales of the Olden Time," which all of us know, is one half of the story.

Mrs. Linder read the story of a train conductor, as told by himself, who was on the West Side, became a strong advocate of the Dry Law. His daily observations and experiences on his train, which showed that the Amendment had no training in the observance and fifth, which was fully stated.

At the end of these meetings excellent refreshments were served during the social time.
